Midview Local Schools

Ohio School Report Cards are designed to give communities, educators and policymakers information about the performance of districts and schools — to celebrate achievement and success and identify areas for improvement.

How to Read the Report Card

The Ohio Department of Education uses data reported by schools and districts to analyze performance in several categories. This data is organized into six components that receive star ratings to indicate the level of performance.

Quick Note: No "Overall Rating" will be assigned to districts this year. Ratings will only be provided for buildings. Additionally, ratings are now "star ratings" and no longer grade scales as in years past.

Star Ratings

Rating	Rating Description
★★★★★	Significantly exceeds state standards
★★★★☆	Exceeds state standards
★★★☆☆	Meets state standards
★★☆☆☆	Needs support to meet state standards
★☆☆☆☆	Needs significant support to meet state standards
NR	The component is not applicable

Six Components

Achievement

This component represents whether student performance on state tests met established thresholds and how well students performed on tests overall.

Progress

This component looks closely at the growth all students are making based on their past performance.

Gap Closing

The Gap Closing Component is a measure of the reduction in educational gaps for student subgroups.

Graduation

The Graduation Component is a measure of the four-year adjusted cohort graduation rate and the five-year adjusted cohort graduation rate.

Early Literacy

The Early Literacy Component is a measure of reading improvement and proficiency for students in kindergarten through third grade.

College, Career, Workforce and Military Readiness

This component looks at how well prepared Ohio students are for future opportunities, whether training in a technical field or preparing for work or college.

Ohio Public School Report Card:

Charter School Report Card Shawgi Tell, 2016-04-01 What is a charter school Where do they come from Who promotes them and why What are they supposed to do Are they the silver bullet to the ills plaguing the American public education system This book provides a comprehensive and accessible overview and analysis of charter schools and their many dimensions It shows that charter schools as a whole lower the quality of education through the privatization and marketization of education The final chapter provides readers with a way toward rethinking and remaking education in a way that is consistent with modern requirements Society and its members need a fully funded high quality public education system open to all and controlled by a public authority

Rowna Catherine Hansen, 1931 New Developments in Pupil Report Cards ... National Education Association of the United States. Department of superintendence & research division, 1934 The Civics Report Card Lee F. Anderson, 1990 This report summarizes findings from two national surveys of U S civics achievement conducted by the National Assessment of Educational Progress Part 1 reports on a trend assessment of approximately 56 000 students at ages 13 and 17 carried out during the 1975 76 1981 82 and 1987 88 school years Chapter 1 summarizes national trends trends for demographic subpopulations trends in students ability to define democracy and trends in students ability to identify the value of multiple newspaper publishers Part 2 reports on patterns of achievement of fourth eighth and twelfth grade students in 1988 Chapter 2 summarizes the levels of civics proficiency across the grades Chapter 3 compares civics proficiency across subpopulations defined by gender race ethnicity region and other characteristics Chapter 4 explores students performance in specific content areas such as democratic principles and the purpose of government political processes and rights responsibilities and the law Chapter 5 describes the amount of instruction students reported receiving in civics while chapter 6 discusses the topics studied and the instructional approaches used in these classes Appendices contain procedural information and tables of statistical data that supplement the information in the text JB Bulletin - Bureau of Education United States. Bureau of Education, 1929 Bulletin, 1931 How Schools Really Matter Douglas B. Downey, 2020-12-07 Most of us assume that public schools in America are unequal that the quality of the education varies with the location of the school and that as a result children learn more in the schools that serve mostly rich white kids than in the schools serving mostly poor black kids But it turns out that this common assumption is misplaced As Douglas B Downey shows in How Schools Really Matter achievement gaps have very little to do with what goes on in our schools Not only do schools not exacerbate inequality in skills they actually help to level the playing field The real sources of achievement gaps are elsewhere A close look at the testing data in seasonal patterns bears this out It turns out that achievement gaps in reading skills between high and low income children are nearly entirely formed prior to kindergarten and schools do more to reduce them than increase them And when gaps do increase they tend to do so during summers not during school periods So why do both liberal and conservative politicians strongly advocate for school reform arguing that the poor quality of schools serving disadvantaged children is an important contributor to inequality It s because discussing the broader social and economic reforms necessary for really reducing inequality has become too challenging and polarizing it s just easier to talk about fixing schools Of course there are differences that schools can make and Downey outlines the kinds of reforms that make sense given what we know about inequality outside of schools including more school exposure increased standardization and better and fairer school and teacher measurements How Schools Really Matter offers a firm rebuke to those who find nothing but fault in our schools which are doing a much better than job than we give them credit for It should also be a call to arms for educators and policymakers the bottom line is that if we are serious about reducing inequality we are going to have to fight some battles that are bigger than school reform battles against the social inequality that is reflected within rather than generated by our public school system Bulletin United States.
