Occupational Injuries and Workplace Risks Simo Salminen, 2023-08-24 The International Labour Organization ILO estimates that worldwide there are around 340 million occupational accidents annually. Moreover, the underreporting of occupational accidents, injuries, and fatalities is giving a false picture of the real scope of the problem. In addition to human suffering, occupational injuries are a serious public health problem and cause considerable economic losses. This book describes how employees' individual properties such as gender, age, and health status affect their vulnerability to suffering occupational injuries. It explores the effects of different ways of organising work such as precarious work and shift work on risk rates. Further, it looks at the risk sources encountered by workers in a number of industrial environments such as transportation, construction sites, manufacturing plants, forestry, fishing, and mines. It also touches on more recent trends in this sector such as migration and climate change. National Defense Migration United States. Congress. House.
