Publications ,1997 Cultural Studies Review Chris Healy and Stephen Muecke (eds), 2008 The October 2008 Cultural Studies Review is a special issue focusing on cultures of panic particularly recent examples of moral panic arising from issues of race gender and sexuality The diverse essays deal with men of Middle Eastern appearance the trial of Private Kovko the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina the use of Ritalin concerns around children and sexuality in Australia and arts funding in the United States during the culture wars The moral panic has centrally to do with the behaviour of crowds particularly the virtual crowds created by the mass media It s a mechanism of expulsion and thus at the same time of group solidarity It s also a particularly powerful genre of the tabloid media in its identification and shaming of deviant social groups it rigidly defines and reinforces moral norms and is complicit with political strategies of consolidation and othering which create and depend on a sense of horror at refugees who wilfully throw their children overboard or push in to the front of the queue at paedophiles grooming children over the internet at drug crazed criminals and bingeing teenagers The challenge is to move beyond the realisation that moral panics are not rationally constructed to an analysis of the passionate bases of the social order and to an understanding of how our politics might deal with this without itself falling into the contagion of panic The diverse collection of essays gathered together in this edition takes up that challenge

Against All Odds Bradley Bowden, 2008 The history of the United Firefighters Union UFU in Queensland is an unusual and inspiring story In an era of large amalgamated unions it remains a small union servicing the special needs of firefighters and at a time when only 20 percent of Australian workers belong to a trade union the UFU still commands the loyalty of virtually all Queensland firefighters While most Australian unions have been in existence since at least the early twentieth century the UFU was only registered in Queensland in 1976 Prior to this date firefighters belonged to the Australian Workers Union They only secured their own union after a bitter four year dispute in Rockhampton that involved the dismissal and eventual reinstatement of that city's UFU firefighters If the UFU is an unusual union then firefighters are also atypical unionists Most of their working lives are spent carrying out routine training drills But at any moment this routine can be interrupted by a call out where they can be exposed to mayhem and traumatic death Fire fighting demands the highest levels of physical fitness experience and courage It also requires the capacity to behave in all circumstances as a team member rather than as an individual While a sense of mateship is common in most jobs the dangers inherent in fire fighting create special bonds Such bonds have created a unique tightly knit workforce whose solidarity is reflected in their union
