Protein Post-Translational Modifications in the Nervous System: from Development to Disease and Ageing

Beatriz Alvarez, Judit Symmank, Miguel Diaz-Hernandez, Geraldine Zimmer-Bensch, Patricia Franzka, 2024-10-30 Post translational modifications PTMs increase the functional diversity of the proteome by reversibly or irreversibly modifying proteins during or after their synthesis. Thereby they contribute to the structural and functional variety of proteins conveying a complexity to the proteome that is significantly higher than the coding capacity of the genome. Moreover, providing another level of epigenetic regulation, PTMs of histone proteins in particular contribute to the modulation of gene accessibility and specific cell expression profiles. PTMs include enzymatically controlled modifications such as phosphorylation, glycosylation, acetylation, methylation, ubiquitination or proteolysis, as well as non-enzymatic reactions such as nitrosation, oxidation or glycation. They can occur at the same amino acid sites, interfering with each other in hierarchical orders and thereby adding another level of complexity. In this way, PTMs influence protein function, turnover, secretion, localization and interactions with other cellular molecules such as proteins, nucleic acids, lipids and cofactors. Thus they influence almost all aspects of cell biology and pathogenesis, as well as represent a basis for maintaining cellular homeostasis. In this regard, PTMs regulate several processes during neurodevelopment involving genes important for brain formation, the cytoskeleton and cytoskeleton associating proteins, as well as regulation of cell migration and axonal guidance. Interaction between traditional chinese medicine and gut microbiota Xiaolin Tong, Linhua Zhao, Rudolf Bauer, Jun Wang, 2023-10-03 Unveiling the Tumor

Microenvironment by Machine Learning to Develop New Immunotherapeutic Strategies (Volume I.B) Nan Zhang, Meng Zhou, Jun Liu, Hao Zhang, Ping Zheng, 2023-10-24 The tumor microenvironment (TME) plays a critical role in tumor proliferation, progression and therapeutic responses. TME is a complex network of cancer cells, stromal cells and most importantly infiltrating immune cells. Cancer cells regulate numerous biological functions through direct or indirect interaction with TME components. Emerging evidence suggests that TME crucially influences the response to both chemotherapy and immunotherapy. As scientific research has entered the big data era with the fast development of high throughput sequencing technologies, machine learning has been gradually widely applied to extract important knowledge from big data bioinformatics. Thus characterizing the TME landscape in cancer and identifying different immune related TME phenotypes using machine learning based bioinformatics analyses in vitro experiments and in vivo experiments are of great interest and significance. Microalgae Biology and Biotechnology Matteo Ballottari, EonSeon Jin, Dimitris Petroutsos, Lutz Wobbe, 2021-03-01

Functional Response of Aquatic Plants to Environmental Stressors

Jun Xu, Qiang Yang, 2025-04-24 Aquatic plants such as floating macrophytes, submerged macrophytes, emergent macrophytes, wetland plants and algae play vital roles in maintaining the health and functioning of aquatic ecosystems. However, increasing environmental stressors such as pollution, climate change, habitat alteration and nutrient imbalances are impacting the functional responses of these plants Current progress is impeded by the complexity of aquatic ecosystems and the intricate interactions between different stressors Additionally the long term effects of these stressors on the resilience and adaptability of aquatic plant populations are not yet fully understood This Research Topic aims to explore the diverse and complex ways in which aquatic plants respond to various stressors shedding light on their adaptation mechanisms resilience and potential for ecosystem restoration We invite researchers ecologists and environmental scientists to contribute to this article collection focusing on the functional response of aquatic plants to environmental stressors Olympus OM Camera Manual Lou Jacobs,1977
