Effects of Alcohol Use on Immunity and Immune

Responses Suhas Sureshchandra, Samantha Yeligar, Derrick R. Samuelson, Ilhem Messaoudi, 2023-11-29 Alcohol use disorder (AUD) is a significant global health burden. Globally, alcohol misuse is the fifth leading risk factor for premature death and disability and accounts for 3.3 million deaths annually. Chronic alcohol use deleteriously affects both normal behavior (e.g., depression, anxiety) and alcohol craving and physiology (e.g., oxidative stress, intestinal hyperpermeability, immune dysfunction) and organ damage. Both heavy and binge drinking patterns alter immune frequencies, compromise immune cell function, resulting in increased morbidity and mortality. Alcohol misuse can damage barrier functions in vital organs such as the lungs, gut, increase susceptibility to both bacterial and viral infections but delay wound healing. Chronic alcoholics are also at a greater risk of developing Acute respiratory distress syndrome (ARDS), alcoholic liver disease (ALD) and certain cancers. A lot of progress has been made in elucidating the relationship between alcohol consumption and immune function and how it affects human health. However, the mechanisms by which alcohol and its metabolites interact with peripheral and tissue resident immune systems remain poorly defined. Defining specific systemic adaptations and molecular mechanisms is important for understanding the long-term consequences of chronic alcohol use. These studies will help devise new interventions or refine existing ones to target the immune system in mitigating alcohol-related diseases. The aim of this Research Topic is to bring together new research in the alcohol field exploring the broad molecular and cellular adaptations of binge and heavy drinking on peripheral and tissue immunity. Studies would ideally include a combination of in vitro cell line models and in vivo animal models and/or human studies of alcohol-induced end organ damage mediated by dysregulated immune responses. Papers in this Research Topic could be used to identify complementary mechanisms and pathways that may be the focus of future therapeutic strategies. We encourage the submission of Original Research articles as well as Reviews, Mini Reviews and Perspectives covering the following or related topics: 1. Innate and adaptive immune adaptations with moderate and heavy drinking 2 Transcriptional and epigenetic mechanisms of alcohol associated immune dysfunction 3 Alcohol microbiome cross talk and its role on immune function 4 Alcohol and tissue immunity impact on barrier function immune stromal cell crosstalk 5 Alcohol and immune responses to vaccines and infections 6 Impact of alcohol on immune metabolism and mitochondrial dysfunction 7 Sex differences in the impact of heavy drinking on immune responses 8 Organ organ interactions and immunity o Gut Lung Liver axis o Gut brain axis o Liver brain axis      Growth Patterns Underlying Plant Development

Flores-Bellver,2022-04-18      Stem Cell Bioprocessing and Manufacturing Joaquim M. S. Cabral,Cláudia Lobato da Silva,Maria Margarida Diogo,2021-01-20 The next healthcare revolution will apply regenerative medicines using human cells and tissues The aim of the regenerative medicine approach is to create biological therapies or substitutes in vitro for the replacement or restoration of tissue function in vivo lost through failure or disease However whilst science has revealed the potential and early products have shown the power of such therapies there is an immediate and long term need for expertise with the necessary skills to face the engineering and life science challenges before the predicted benefits in human healthcare can be realized Specifically there is a need for the development of bioprocess technology for the successful transfer of laboratory based practice of stem cell and tissue culture to the clinic as therapeutics through the application of engineering principles and practices This Special Issue of Bioengineering on Stem Cell Bioprocessing and Manufacturing addresses the central role in defining the engineering sciences of cell based therapies by bringing together contributions from worldwide experts on stem cell biology and engineering bioreactor design and bioprocess development scale up and manufacturing of stem cell based therapies      Bone and Metabolic Activities Martha J. Somerman,Kaumudi

Joshipura,Francisco Nociti,Nan E. Hatch,Bjorn Olsen,Thomas E. Van Dyke,Monzur Murshed,Nancy Lane,2023-08-31 Substantial progress has been made in defining genes and proteins involved in development maintenance and regeneration of teeth and bones This knowledge has improved strategies for diagnosing and treating mineralized tissue diseases Existing data provide credence for these genes proteins having roles beyond those attributed to mineralized tissues For example they may affect systemic metabolic activity and glucose tolerance One example is fibroblast growth factor 23 Fgf23 a hormone secreted by osteocytes suppressing phosphate reabsorption into the blood stream and vitamin D synthesis in the kidney Many other bone associated proteins perhaps acting as endocrine factors are reported to act at distant sites to alter metabolic activity However there remains substantial uncertainty as to whether bone itself functioning as an endocrine organ and or factors secreted by bone could modulate metabolic activity Such information should be of value toward informing clinical strategies to treat mineralized tissue and metabolic disorders      Cell Signaling and Neural Circuits in Chronic

The Excitement Continues Mariana J. Kaplan, Marko Radic, Martin Herrmann, 2017-12-28 NETosis is a form of cell death that manifests by the release of decondensed chromatin to the extracellular space provides valuable insights into mechanisms and consequences of cellular demise Because extracellular chromatin can immobilize microbes the extended nucleohistone network was called a neutrophil extracellular trap NET and the process of chromatin release was proposed to serve an innate immune defense function Extracellular chromatin NETs were initially observed in studies of neutrophils and are most prominent in these types of granulocytes Subsequent studies showed that other granulocytes and in a limited way other cells of the innate immune response may also release nuclear chromatin following certain kinds of stimulation Variations of NETosis were noted with cells that remain temporarily motile after the release of chromatin Numerous stimuli for NETosis were discovered including bacterial breakdown products inflammatory stimuli particulate matter certain crystals immune complexes and activated thrombocytes Fundamental explorations into the mechanisms of NETosis observed that neutrophil enzyme activity PAD4 neutrophil elastase proteinase 3 and myeloperoxidase and signal transduction pathways contribute to the regulation of NETosis Histones in NET chromatin become modified by peptidylarginine deiminase 4 PAD4 and cleaved at specific sites by proteases leading to extensive chromatin externalization In addition NETs serve for attachment of bactericidal enzymes including myeloperoxidase leukocyte proteases and the cathelicidin LL 37 NETs are decorated with proteases and may thus contribute to tissue destruction However the attachment of these enzymes to NET associated supramolecular structures restricts systemic spread of the proteolytic activity While the benefit of NETs in an infection appears obvious NETs also participate as key protagonists in various pathologic states Therefore it is essential for NETs to be efficiently cleared otherwise digestive enzymes may gain access to tissues where inflammation takes place Persistent NET exposure at sites of inflammation may lead to a further complication NET antigens may provoke acquired immune responses and over time could initiate autoimmune reactions serve as antigen for nuclear autoantibodies and foster DNA immune complex related inflammation Neutrophil products and deiminated proteins comprise an important group of autoantigens in musculoskeletal disorders Aberrant NET synthesis and or clearance are often associated with inflammatory and autoimmune conditions Recent evidence also implicates aberrant NET formation in the development of endothelial damage atherosclerosis and thrombosis Intravital microscopy provides evidence for conditions that induce NETosis in vivo Furthermore NETs can easily be detected in synovial fluid and tissue sections of patients with arthritis and gout NETosis is thus of interest to researchers who investigate innate immune responses host pathogen interactions chronic inflammatory disorders cell and vascular biology biochemistry and autoimmunity As we enter the second decade of research on NETosis it is useful and timely to review the mechanisms and pathways of NET formation their role in bacterial and fungal defense and their importance as inducers of autoimmune responses
