Marine Bivalve Molluscs Elizabeth Gosling, 2015-07-07 Marine Bivalve Molluscs Marine Bivalve Molluscs is a comprehensive and thoroughly updated Second Edition of Bivalve Molluscs covering all major aspects of this important class of invertebrates. As well as being an important class biologically and ecologically, many of the bivalves are fished and cultured commercially, e.g. mussels, oysters, scallops, and clams, in a multi-billion dollar worldwide industry. Elizabeth Gosling has written a landmark book that will stand for many years as the standard work on the subject. Chapters in Marine Bivalve Molluscs cover morphology, ecology, feeding, reproduction, settlement, and recruitment, growth, physiology, fisheries, aquaculture, genetics, diseases, and parasites, and public health issues. A full understanding of many of these aspects is vital for all those working in bivalve fisheries and culture. An essential purchase for anyone concerned with this important class of animals, copies of Marine Bivalve Molluscs should be on the shelves of biologists, ecologists, environmental scientists, fisheries scientists, and personnel within the aquaculture industry. Copies of the book should be available in all libraries and research establishments where these subjects are studied or taught.

REVIEWS OF THE FIRST EDITION An admirable achievement, a valuable addition to marine sciences libraries everywhere. The back cover of this book says that it is a landmark text that will stand for many years as the standard work on this subject. I can only agree with this sentiment. Aquaculture A welcome addition to the literature and provides the reader with a comprehensive overview of biological and environmental factors that affect and control both natural populations of marine bivalves and culture operations. Aquaculture International The author has done an admirable job in compiling a wealth of information into a readable text. Transactions of the American Fisheries Society Will serve well as a description of much of both the experimental biology and the aquaculture of bivalves. Journal of Experimental Marine Biology and Ecology Provides excellent reviews of all major aspects, an extremely important reference for anyone engaged in bivalve research, fisheries management, and aquaculture. Quarterly Review of Biology The book is very readable in an easy style. It is well illustrated and there is a wealth of data and statistics presented. Bulletin of the Malacological Society of London

Aquaculture Pathophysiology Frederick S.B. Kibenge, Bernardo Baldisserotto, Roger Sie-Maen Chong, 2022-08-26 Aquaculture Pathophysiology Volume I Finfish Diseases is a diverse practical reference on finfish diseases impacting aquaculture. It is intended for the veterinarian, fish health biologist, or extensionist, fish pathologist, and fish health diagnostician supporting the management of major and emerging infectious and non-infectious health risks for the key temperate, subtropical, and tropical finfish species of commercial and fisheries importance. This volume should be read in partnership with volume 2 on shellfish diseases as the principles and approach to the diagnosis and management of aquacultured animal species are similar, and typically, researchers, teachers, students, diagnostic laboratory scientists, aquaculture technicians, and farmers need to be competent across both finfish and shellfish health issues. A focus on the disease process of major or emerging viral, bacterial, fungal, and parasitic infections affecting aquacultured finfish species, e.g.

salmonids carp tilapia eel barramundi A focus on important or emerging environmental nutritional genetic deformity toxicological endocrine disruption and neoplastic diseases in finfish A review of the immunology of finfish relevant to a practical understanding of disease diagnosis and management An overview of laboratory diagnostic methods relevant to detection of finfish diseases Concise discussion on the diverse risk factors of finfish diseases and options for their control

The WTO Agreement on Sanitary and Phytosanitary Measures Lukasz Gruszczynski,Joanne Scott,2023-07-25 The 1995 WTO Agreement on Sanitary and Phytosanitary Measures SPS is concerned with trade and food safety regulation and with the regulation of pests and diseases in agriculture It establishes legal standards while affirming the right of each member to choose its own level of SPS protection However the question of whether the balance has been properly struck remains a matter of ongoing debate The Commentary provides a detailed update of the first edition authored by Joanne Scott in 2007. It reflects 15 years of change in SPS case law and practice. It critically examines current issues such as use of experts in the dispute settlement process, applicable standard of review or legal treatment of private standards in food safety. Moreover, the Commentary assesses the suitability of the current regime to address the existing needs of developing countries. The commentary also examines how science-based criteria and the traditional GATT standards non-discrimination and least trade restrictive means are used to discipline national SPS measures. It explores the transparency obligations and procedural rules that govern control, inspection and approval processes in importing countries. A separate section is dedicated to the operation of the SPS Committee as an arena for transnational governance in the SPS field. The book also investigates the agreement's attempt to establish a framework to draw together the diverse institutions and regulatory regimes already populating the food safety arena. Two new chapters are also included: one reviewing Article 5.7 SPS in greater detail and one dealing with the SPS rules in selected regional trade agreements: the CETA, EU-Japan EPA, USMCA, RCEP and CPTPP.

Manual for the management of operations during an animal health emergency Münstermann, S., Sow, M., Gbaguidi, L.A.M., 2022-07-05. The benefit of an adequate framework for the management of animal health emergency operations has been repeatedly shown over the years, highlighting a need to build and upgrade capabilities to effectively and efficiently manage animal health emergency operations at all levels. This need can begin to be met through the guidance provided in this manual. Equipped with practical examples, samples and guidelines, this manual supports countries and relevant local, national, regional and international organizations as they prepare for and manage operations during an animal health emergency. The manual is designed to be used in line with the Good Emergency Management Practice: The Essentials manual, applying Good Emergency Management Practice (GEMP) principles and a One Health approach, and providing a global view of how to act during the peacetime and emergency phases of animal health events. This global manual is presented in such a way that veterinary services and relevant local authorities in countries around the world can use the information therein as guidance to create or adapt their own systems and build a customized emergency operations management manual.

Aquaculture zoning, site selection and area management under the ecosystem approach to aquaculture Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018-11-19. The ecosystem approach to aquaculture provides the conceptual guideline to spatial planning and management. This publication describes the three major steps in spatial planning and management: namely, zoning, site selection and design of an aquaculture management area or AMA. The rationale for and objectives of each step, the ways, methodologies to implement it and the means/tools that are available to enable a methodology are described in a stepwise fashion. Recommendations to practitioners and policy makers are provided. A separate policy brief accompanies this paper. The benefits from spatial planning and management are numerous and include higher productivity and returns for investors and more effective mitigation of environmental, economic and social risks, the details of which are provided in this paper. This publication is organized in two parts Part one is the Guidance it is the main body of the document and describes the processes and steps for spatial planning including aquaculture zoning site selection and area management Part two of the publication includes six annexes that present key topics including i binding and non legally binding international instruments which set the context for sustainable national aquaculture ii biosecurity zoning iii aquaculture certification and zonal management iv an overview of key tools and models that can be used to facilitate and inform the spatial planning process v case studies from ten countries Brazil Chile China Indonesia Mexico Oman the Philippines Turkey Uganda and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and vi a workshop report The country case studies illustrate key aspects of the implementation of spatial planning and management at the national level but mostly within local contexts
