Office of Aviation Medicine, Patterns of Physiological Activity Accompanying Performance on a Perceptual-motor Task Richard I. Thackray,1969 Physiological, Biochemical, and Multiple-task-performance Responses to Different Alterations of the Wake-sleep Cycle ,1976 Methodology in the Assessment of Complex Human Performance W. Dean Chiles,Cheryl Beveridge Bruni,Robert A. Lewis,1969 Male subjects were tested after extensive training as two five man crews in an experiment designed to examine the effects of signal rate on the performance of a task involving the monitoring of a dynamic process Performance was measured using three signal rates with several levels of workload induced by the simultaneous performance of different combinations of tasks involving reaction time mental arithmetic pattern discrimination and group problem solving Author Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports ,1995 Annual Report Oklahoma Corporation Commission,1922 Methodology in the Assessment of Complex Performance W. Dean Chiles,Cheryl Beveridge Bruni,Robert A. Lewis,1969 This study concerned the rate of presentation of stimuli on a task involving the monitoring of a static process of the kind represented by aircraft warning light indicators The task was performed concurrently with various combinations of tasks requiring the exercise of psychological functions representative of the demands placed on the human operator in aviation operations The signal rates used were 10 3 signals hour 17 signals hour and 22 5 signals hour The only task for which performance varied significantly across the three rates of signal presentation was the task requiring the monitoring of a dynamic process performance of this task was facilitated by the highest rate of signal presentation on the static monitoring task The two faster rates of signal presentation were found to yield more reliable measures of static monitoring performance than the lower rate Author Annual Report of the Corporation Commission of the State of Oklahoma for the Year ... Oklahoma Corporation Commission,1922 Functional Kinesiology in Health and Performance Elena Mainer Pardos,Hadi Nobari,Kelly Johnson,António José Figueiredo,2024-05-29 The state of the world s health is critical Customers seek trustworthy healthcare professionals because the health industry is rife with contradicting information and out of date science Frequently students are still being taught out of date material and a variety of tools without any recommendations for practical application leaving them feeling overburdened perplexed and insecure Both of these issues were addressed by the invention of functional kinesiology Kinesiology is the application of the sciences of biomechanics anatomy physiology psychology and neuroscience to the study of human and animal movement performance and function It examines the mechanisms behind both human and animal movement with particular attention to the roles played by the skeletal joint and muscular systems Moreover a foundation and practitioner training pathway is provided by functional kinesiology The foundation training employs Kinesiology muscle monitoring and the concepts to evaluate the body s energy systems and rebalance them with safe and effective physical electrical emotional and dietary
