Olafur Eliasson, 2014 Content through contact between landscapes and artworks bodies and weather conditions light and darkness Over the years Danish/Icelandic artist Olafur Eliasson b Copenhagen 1967 lives and works in Berlin and Copenhagen has continually returned to Iceland to investigate its landscape with his camera The ambitious ongoing venture almost cartographical in its scope has resulted in approximately eighty photo series to date and a wealth of individual photographs of glaciers waterfalls rivers volcanoes and caves Far from merely documenting the terrain Eliasson's vibrant images reflect on our relationship to nature the physical space in which we exist and the body's felt motion through the space central concerns in his oeuvre Alongside Eliasson's photographs this lavishly designed book in large format presents a selection of further works by the artist granting the reader a glimpse into the process of inspiration leading from physical experience to abstraction The sequence of images curated by Eliasson himself traces the intuitive connections between the landscape and the different modes of expression employed by the artist

Olafur Eliasson Olafur Eliasson, Hans Ulrich Obrist, 2008 Hans Ulrich Obrist and Icelandic artist Olafur Eliasson have known each other for many years and have worked together intimately on exhibitions book projects performances and more Their legendary conversations gathered here are revealing challenging philosophical and essential to both oeuvres

Landscape into Eco Art Mark Cheetham, 2018-02-14 Dedicated to an articulation of the earth from broadly ecological perspectives eco art is a vibrant subset of contemporary art that addresses the widespread public concern with rapid climate change and related environmental issues In Landscape into Eco Art Mark Cheetham systematically examines connections and divergences between contemporary eco art land art of the 1960s and 1970s and the historical genre of landscape painting Through eight thematic case studies that illuminate what eco art means in practice reception and history Cheetham places the form in a longer and broader art historical context He considers a wide range of media from painting sculpture and photography to artists' films video sound work animation and installation and analyzes the work of internationally prominent artists such as Olafur Eliasson Nancy Holt Mark Dion and Robert Smithson In doing so Cheetham reveals eco art to be a dynamic extension of a long tradition of landscape depiction in the West that boldly enters into today's debates on climate science government policy and our collective and individual responsibility to the planet An ambitious intervention into eco criticism and the environmental humanities this volume provides original ways to understand the issues and practices of eco art in the Anthropocene Art historians humanities scholars and lay readers interested in contemporary art and the environment will find Cheetham's work valuable and invigorating

Global Forest Visualization Lynda Olman, Birgit Schneider, 2024-02-20 This book project examines global forest monitoring as a means to understand the promises and problems of global visualization for climate management Specifically the book focuses on Global Forest Watch the most developed and widely available forest monitoring platform created in 1997 by the World Resource Institute Forest maps are always political as they visualize power relations and form the grid within which forests become commodities This dislocation of the idea of the forest from its literal roots in the ground has generated problems for forest visualization efforts designed to empower local communities This book takes a critical humanistic approach to this problem combining methods from the fields of rhetoric and media studies to suggest solutions to these problems for designers and users of platforms like the Global Forest Watch To explain why global views of forests can be disempowering the book relies on biopolitical and rhetorical theories of panopticism and how these views unfold a different violence on different regions of the Earth in relation to colonial history Using this theoretical framework the book explains the historical process by which forests came to be classified quantified and mapped on a global scale Interviews with end users of global forest visualization platforms reveal if and how these platforms support local action Lastly the book provides rhetorical solutions to articulate global and local views of forests without reducing one view to the other These solutions involve looking to forests themselves for clues about how to generate more broadly effective and resilient visualizations This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of forest studies climate change science communication visualization studies environmental communication and environmental conservation The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Art and Ethics in a Material World Jennifer A McMahon, 2013-11-26 In this book McMahon argues that a reading of Kant's body of work in the light of a pragmatist theory of meaning and language which arguably is a Kantian legacy leads one to put community reception ahead of individual reception in the order of aesthetic relations A core premise of the book is that neo-pragmatism draws attention to an otherwise overlooked aspect of Kant's Critique of Aesthetic Judgment and this is the conception of community which it sets forth While offering an interpretation of Kant's aesthetic theory the book focuses on the implications of Kant's third critique for contemporary art McMahon draws upon Kant and his legacy in pragmatist theories of meaning and language to argue that aesthetic judgment is a version of moral judgment a way to cultivate attitudes conducive to community which plays a pivotal role in the evolution of language meaning and knowledge

Steina Natalie Bell, 2025-03-11 The first comprehensive monograph in over a decade celebrating the work of pioneering video artist Steina who is known for pushing perspective beyond the human centered realm Accompanying the related exhibition at MIT

List Visual Arts Center and Buffalo AKG Art Museum Steina brings renewed recognition to Steina b 1940 Iceland tracing her oeuvre from early collaborative works with her partner Woody Vasulka to her independent explorations of optics and a liberated non anthropocentric subjectivity It follows her practice from downtown New York to Buffalo to the vast landscapes of New Mexico and Iceland which appear in her immersive video environments of the 1990s and 2000s Venturing into nature and combining imaging technologies with reflective orbs Steina reorientated the human body s relationship to nature and expanded how we access the natural world through media Scholars including Gloria Sutton Joey Heinen and Ina Blom consider how Steina s generative sense of play gave way to methods of processing and computation contextualize Steina alongside a group of her peers who shared an obsession with the electronic signal and argue for her interest in video as a proto virtual space Steina has never felt more relevant Steina born Steinunn Briem Bjarnadottir studied violin and music theory in Reykjavik before attending the State Music Conservatory in Prague Czechoslovakia In 1965 she emigrated to New York City By the late 1960s she began to focus entirely on video work and in 1971 cofounded The Electronic Kitchen later The Kitchen an experimental electronic media space Her work has been shown at the Centre Georges Pompidou Paris the Whitney Museum of American Art New York and many other places A copublication with the MIT List Visual Arts Center and Buffalo AKG Art Museum Olafur Eliasson Susan May,2003 This text looks at Scandinavian artist Olafur Eliasson s approach to the cavernous space of the Turbine Hall at Tate Modern His work explores human perception of the world and the boundaries between nature art and technology and often combines elemental materials with modern technology

Conversations on Art and Aesthetics Hans Maes,2018-01-26 What is art What counts as an aesthetic experience Does art have to be beautiful Can one reasonably dispute about taste What is the relation between aesthetic and moral evaluations How to interpret a work of art Can we learn anything from literature film or opera What is sentimentality What is irony How to think philosophically about architecture dance or sculpture What makes something a great portrait Is music representational or abstract Why do we feel terrified when we watch a horror movie even though we know it to be fictional In Conversations on Art and Aesthetics Hans Maes discusses these and other key questions in aesthetics with ten world leading philosophers of art No l Carroll Gregory Currie Arthur Danto Cynthia Freeland Paul Guyer Carolyn Korsmeyer Jerrold Levinson Jenefer Robinson Roger Scruton and Kendall Walton The exchanges are direct open and sharp and give a clear account of these thinkers core ideas and intellectual development They also offer new insights into and a deeper understanding of contemporary issues in the philosophy of art Anthropologies of Entanglements Christiane Voss,Lorenz Engell,Tim Othold,2023-08-24 Media and human modes of existence are always already intertwined and interdependent The notion of the anthropocene has further stimulated a new examination of ideas about human agency and responsibility Various approaches all emphasize relational concepts and the situatedness and embodiment of human and also non human existences and experiences Their common interest has shifted from any so called human nature to the multitude of cultural topographical technical historical social discursive and media formats with which human existences are entangled This volume brings together a range of thinkers from international backgrounds and puts these important reflections and ideas in the spotlight More specifically the volume explores the concept of anthropomedial entanglements It fosters an understanding of human bodies experiences and media as being immanently entangled and mutually constituting prior to any possible distinction between them The different contributions thus open up a dialogue between empirical case studies and media historical research on the one hand and the conceptual work of media and cultural philosophies and aesthetics on the other hand

LEGOified Nicholas Taylor,Chris Ingraham,2020-02-20 LEGOified Building Blocks as Media provides a multi faceted exploration of LEGO fandom addressing a blindspot in current accounts of LEGO and an emerging area of interest to media scholars namely the role of hobbyist enthusiasts and content producers in LEGO s emergence as a ubiquitous transmedia franchise This book examines a range of LEGO hobbyism and their attendant forms of mediated self expression and identity their technicities artists aspiring Master Builders collectors and entrepreneurs who refashion LEGO bricks into new commodities sets tchotchkes and minifigures The practices and perspectives that constitute this diverse scene lie at the intersection of multiple transformations in contemporary culture including the shifting relationships between culture industries and the audiences that form their most ardent consumer base but also the emerging forms of entrepreneurialism professionalization and globalization that characterize the burgeoning DIY movement What makes this a compelling project for media scholars is its mutli dimensional articulation of how LEGO functions not just as a toy cultural icon or as transmedia franchise but as a media platform LEGOified is centered around their shared experiences qualitative observations and semi structured interviews at a number of LEGO hobbyist conventions Working outwards from these conventions each chapter engages additional modes of inquiry media archaeology aesthetics posthumanist philosophy feminist media studies and science and technology studies to explore the origins permutations and implications of different aspects of the contemporary LEGO fandom scene

Come Together Francesco Spampinato,2014-12-02 The past twenty years have seen a new generation of artists working together in small groups and large collectives to explore new avenues of art design performance and commerce In Come Together author and visual artist Francesco Spampinato assembles an international roster of forty of today's most exciting and influential collectives from design studios like Project Projects and political performance artists The Yes Men to flash mob provocateurs Improv Everywhere and the multimedia artists Assume Vivid Astro Focus. Alongside visual portfolios of their best work are in-depth interviews addressing each group's unique motivations, processes, and objectives. What emerges is a shared desire to turn viewers into producers and to use commercial mass media strategies to challenge prevailing social, political, and cultural power structures. Come Together is an essential resource and inspiration for students, art lovers, and anyone interested in the cutting edge of visual culture. Between Concept and Identity Esteban

Fernández-Cobián, 2014-10-02. The identity of places of worship is one of the most difficult problems faced by religious architecture at the start of this new millennium. Contemporary globalising experiences demand peremptorily a reflection both conceptual and situational on the origin of objects, people, and institutions. Nevertheless, the chance of these migration flows annihilating already existing religious identities is perceived as a problem. This problem is directly linked to the survival of architecture as a system carrying a material representation of the divine and constituting a self-reference system for the community of believers. Therefore, it is important to define the extent to which the new religious architecture has given room to an abstract type of formal experimentation which is disconnected from social reality. Does this architecture maintain its bridging sacramental value, or on the contrary, has it given way to the conceptualist trends still alive in the artistic world? Is metaphor a valid concept for the Christian religion? Is there an essential aspect linking this architecture to the centuries-old tradition of the Catholic Church? Different architectural, pedagogical, exhibition, and formal initiatives have arisen in recent years, and it is necessary to get to know them with the purpose of understanding where contemporary religious architecture is heading in its eternal search for a permanent identity. Earth Polyphony Suhasini Vincent, 2024-02-19. In Earth

Polyphony, Suhasini Vincent analyzes the theory of ecocriticism in its entirety and its existence in the global paradigm of climate change. Vincent shows how a polyphony of voices can affect law and decision making in the era of the Anthropocene and aptly shows how voices can coexist as in Bakhtinian polyphony, where multiple perspectives coexist despite contradictions and differences. Vincent argues that both material and non-material worlds are endowed with storied forms of knowledge that prompt ecocritical writers to engage in new experimental modes of expression. She explores the material turn, the animal turn, and the narrative turn to highlight how law meets literature, prompts eco-activism, and how these crisscrossing narratives influence each other to spark judicial activism in forums around the planet. Future Art
