The Woman of Colour Lyndon J. Dominique, 2007-10-24 The Woman of Colour is a unique literary account of a black heiress' life immediately after the abolition of the British slave trade Olivia Fairfield the biracial heroine and orphaned daughter of a slaveholder must travel from Jamaica to England and as a condition of her father's will either marry her Caucasian first cousin or become dependent on his mercenary elder brother and sister in law As Olivia decides between these two conflicting possibilities her letters recount her impressions of Britain and its inhabitants as only a black woman could record them She gives scathing descriptions of London Bristol and the British as well as progressive critiques of race racism and slavery The narrative follows her life from the heights of her arranged marriage to its swift descent into annulment and destitution only to culminate in her resurrection as a self-proclaimed widow who flouts the conventional marriage plot The appendices which include contemporary reviews of the novel historical documents on race and inheritance in Jamaica and examples of other women of colour in early British prose fiction will further inspire readers to rethink issues of race gender class and empire from an African woman's perspective

Female Leaders in New Religious Movements Inga Bårdsen

Tøllefsen, Christian Giudice, 2017-10-06 In this book historians of religion and gender studies explore the biographies of a number of female leaders and the factors within their groups and cultural contexts that support these women's religious leadership. New Religious Movements have been supportive of women taking roles of leadership for a long time. Authors of this book examine issues of gender and female leadership from diverse theoretical and methodological standpoints. The book covers a broad range of groups both with regard to time and place covering Paganism, Hindu guru groups, Christian organizations, esoteric mystical movements, African churches, and a Japanese NRM. The common focal point is the powerful prophetic charismatic women who have founded and or led New Religious Movements. Academic Language in Diverse

Reproductions Fran Bigman, 2024-03-29 Resistant Reproductions asks why narratives of pregnancy and abortion emerged in the early twentieth century and what kinds of stories these narratives conveyed. Is it only once pregnancy becomes plannable that it becomes a story worth telling? Abortion is often considered resistant and feminist while pregnancy is considered domestic and conventional. How can readings of literary narratives challenge this reductive binary? Resistant Reproductions, the first book-length study of both pregnancy and abortion in British culture, addresses these questions by examining pregnancy narratives including abortion narratives in British fiction and film from 1907 to 1967. Fiction became a way for writers to explore what new possibilities of reproductive control would mean for the individual yet there was also much anxiety about who would have control: individuals or the state. While exploring intimate personal experiences of pregnancy and abortion, Resistant Reproductions also asks how literary narratives used reproductive plots to address political issues of gender, class, and eugenics. XIX Century Fiction, Volume Two M. Sadleir, 2023-12-22 Transatlantic Women

Travelers, 1688-1843 Misty Krueger, 2021-03-12 This important new collection explores representations of late seventeenth through mid-nineteenth century transatlantic women travelers across a range of historical and literary works. While at one time transatlantic studies concentrated predominantly on men's travels, this volume highlights the resilience of women who ventured voluntarily and by force across the Atlantic, some seeking mobility, adventure, knowledge, wealth, and freedom, and others surviving subjugation, capture, and enslavement. The essays gathered here concern themselves with the fictional and the historical, national and geographic location, racial and ethnic identities, and the configuration of the transatlantic world in increasingly taught texts such as The Female American and The Woman of Colour as well as less familiar material such as Merian's writing on the insects of Surinam and Falconbridge's travels to Sierra Leone Intersectional in its approach and with an afterword by Eve Tavor Bannet this essential collection will prove indispensable as it provides fresh new perspectives on transatlantic texts and women's travel therein across the long eighteenth century

A World Atlas of Translation Yves Gambier, Ubaldo Stecconi, 2019-02-15 What do people think of translation in the different historical cultural and linguistic traditions of the world How many uses has translation been put to How distant from one another are the concepts of translation found in the different traditions These are some of the questions A World Atlas of Translation addresses Its twenty one reports give us pictures taken from the inside both from traditions that are well represented in the literature and from the many that for now are not But the Atlas is not content with documenting no map is this innocent In fact the wealth of information collected and made accessible by its reporters can be useful to gauge the dispersion of translation concepts across traditions As you read its reports the Atlas will keep asking How far apart do these concepts look to you Finally and more ambitiously the reports can help us test the hypothesis that a cross cultural notion of translation exists In this respect the Atlas is mostly a proof of concept It hopes to encourage further fact based research in quest of a robust and compelling unifying notion of translation
