Low Carbon Energy Transitions Kathleen Araújo, 2017-11-03 The world is at a pivotal crossroad in energy choices There is a strong sense that our use of energy must be more sustainable Moreover many also broadly agree that a way must be found to rely increasingly on lower carbon energy sources However no single or clear solution exists on the means to carry out such a shift at either a national or international level Traditional energy planning when done has revolved around limited cost projections that often fail to take longer term evidence and interactions of a wider set of factors into account The good news is that evidence does exist on such change in case studies of different nations shifting toward low carbon energy approaches In fact such shifts can occur quite quickly at times alongside industrial and societal advance innovation and policy learning These types of insights will be important for informing energy debates and decision making going forward Low Carbon Energy Transitions Turning Points in National Policy and Innovation takes an in depth look at four energy transitions that have occurred since the global oil crisis of 1973 Brazilian biofuels Danish wind power French nuclear power and Icelandic geothermal energy With these cases Dr Araújo argues that significant nationwide shifts to low carbon energy can occur in under fifteen years and that technological complexity is not necessarily a major impediment to such shifts Dr Araújo draws on more than five years of research and interviews with over 120 different scientists government workers academics and members of civil society in completing this study Low Carbon Energy Transitions is written for professionals in energy the environment and policy as well as for students and citizens who are interested in critical decisions about energy sustainability Technology briefings are provided for each of the major technologies in this book so that scientific and non scientific readers can engage in more even discussions about the choices that are involved

Agricultural Policies in Emerging Economies 2009 Monitoring and Evaluation OECD, 2009-03-17 This report analyses agricultural policy developments during 2006-08 in seven economies: Brazil, Chile, China, India, Russia, South Africa, and Ukraine. Plant Genomics for Sustainable Agriculture Ram Lakhan Singh, Sukanta Mondal, Akarsh Parihar, Pradeep Kumar Singh, 2022-06-01. This book collates the basic and advanced concepts of plant biotechnology and genomics along with the future trends. It discusses the combination of conventional breeding techniques with genomic tools and approaches leading to a new genomics-based plant breeding technology supporting crop plants that respond better to biotic and abiotic stress and pathogen attacks. Plant genomics play an important role in developing more efficient plant cultivars which are essential for the neo-green revolution needed to feed the world's rapidly growing population. Plant genomic data is being utilized in genetic engineering to ensure that better and resilient varieties of crops are available ensuring food security. This book is of immense interest to teachers, researchers, crop scientists, capacity builders, and policy makers. Also, the book serves as additional reading material for undergraduate and graduate students of agriculture, biotechnology, genomics, soil science, and environmental sciences. National and International agricultural scientists and policy makers will also find this to be a useful read. U.S.-Peru Trade Promotion Agreement: Potential Economy-Wide and Selected Sectoral Effects, Inv. TA-2104-20, Near East and North Africa Regional Overview of Food Security and Nutrition 2018 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2019-04-25. The Near East and North Africa Regional Overview of Food Security and Nutrition provides new evidence for monitoring trends in food security and nutrition within the framework of the 2030 Sustainable Development Agenda. The in-depth analysis of progress made against Sustainable Development Goal 2 Target 2.1 to end hunger and ensure access to food by all and Target 2.2 to end all forms of malnutrition as well as the state of micronutrient deficiencies is complemented by a review on rural transformation policies aimed at addressing food insecurity and nutrition issues. Updated estimates show that the food security situation in the region continues to worsen since 2011-2013. For the Near East and North Africa, 11% of the region's population (50.2 million people) are undernourished. The findings of the report showed that the failure to reduce hunger in the area is closely associated with the increase in conflict and violence in several parts of the region as also highlighted in last year's edition. While the prevalence of undernourishment has risen from 23 to 26 percent in conflict countries since 2011-13, it has remained stable at about 5 percent in non-conflict countries. This year's report goes further to explore the relationship between food insecurity, economic growth, and rural transformation. It demonstrates that economic growth in the Near East and North Africa region has been slow compared to other regions and suggests that rural transformation can improve growth rates and generate decent employment through strengthening rural-urban linkages, improving agricultural productivity, and expanding the rural non-farm economy. Declining International Cooperation on Pesticide Regulation May T. Yeung, William A. Kerr, Blair Coomber, Matthew Lantz, Alyse McConnell, 2017-07-18. This Palgrave Pivot investigates barriers to international agricultural trade caused by a lack of standardized maximum residue levels (MRL) for pesticides. Given the preponderance of pesticide use in food production and the increasing disruptions to trade a better understanding of the reasons for the decline in international cooperation the trade impacts and potential solutions is critical This volume will contribute to that understanding Through an analysis of the economics of MRL regulatory harmonization select case studies and a look at incentives and disincentives for government agencies and regulators the authors move the conversation beyond the theoretical and into current practices and advice for creating workable solutions This Pivot is a valuable resource for those concerned with food security trade policy agricultural production and export supply chains as well as those interested in broader issues related to science policy and societal trends
