Reducing Urban Violence in the Global South Jennifer Erin Salahub, Markus Gottsbacher, John de Boer, Mayssam D. Zaaroura, 2019-05-14 Reducing Urban Violence in the Global South seeks to identify the drivers of urban violence in the cities of the Global South and how they relate to and interact with poverty and inequalities Drawing on the findings of an ambitious 5 year 15 project research programme supported by Canada s International Development Research Centre and the UK s Department for International Development the book explores what works and what doesn t to prevent and reduce violence in urban centres Cities in developing countries are often seen as key drivers of economic growth but they are often also the sites of extreme violence poverty and inequality The research in this book was developed and conducted by researchers from the Global South who work and live in the countries studied it challenges many of the assumptions from the Global North about how poverty violence and inequalities interact in urban spaces In so doing the book demonstrates that accepted understandings of the causes of and solutions to urban violence developed in the Global North should not be imported into the Global South without careful consideration of local dynamics and contexts Reducing Urban Violence in the Global South concludes by considering the broader implications for policy and practice offering recommendations for improving interventions to make cities safer and more inclusive The fresh perspectives and insights offered by this book will be useful to scholars and students of development and urban violence as well as to practitioners and policymakers working on urban violence reduction programmes

Confronting Female Genital Mutilation Marie-Hélène Mottin-Sylla, Joëlle Palmieri, Mamsaït Jagne, 2011-07-14 Excision or female genital mutilation FGM in Africa is no longer the private concern only of women it is a social and political issue that concerns both men and women and this book reports on an innovative research and action project amongst girls and boys in Burkina Faso Mali and Senegal The project explores whether young people's use of information technology could contribute to the abandonment of FGM In the age of the internet beliefs and practices of FGM are shifting particularly among young people The results of this project show how in the era of globalized citizenship a cross sectional vision that puts young people and gender at the center of development can produce real change

Making Open Development Inclusive Matthew L. Smith, Ruhiya Kristine Seward, 2020-08-25 Drawing on ten years of empirical work and research analyses of how open development has played out in practice A decade ago a significant trend toward openness emerged in international development Open development can describe initiatives as disparate as open government open health data open science open education and open innovation The theory was that open systems related to data science and innovation would enable more inclusive processes of human development This volume drawing on ten years of empirical work and research analyzes how open development has played out in practice Focusing on development practices in the Global South the contributors explore the crucial questions of who is allowed to participate when an initiative is open and who benefits or not from them finding that processes characterized as open can sometimes be exclusionary in their implementation Examining a wide range of cases they consider the governance of open development ecosystems and the implementation of a variety of applications including open educational resources collaborative science and the uses of crowdsourcing Contributors Denisse Albornoz Chris Armstrong Savita Bailur Roxana Barrantes Carla Bonina Michael Ca ares Leslie Chan Laura Czerniewicz Jeremy de Beer Stefano De Sabbata Shirin Elahi Alison Gillwald Mark Graham Rebecca Hillyer Cheryl Hodgkinson Williams Dick Kawooya Erika Kramer Mbula Paulo Matos Caroline Ncube Chidi Oguamanam Angela Okune Alejandro Posada Nagla Rizk Isaac Rutenberg Tobias Schonwetter Fabrizio Scrollini Ruhiya Kristine Seward Raed Sharif Matthew Smith William Randall Spence Henry Trotter Fran ois van Schalkwyk Sonal Zavaeri

The Digital Origins of Dictatorship and Democracy Philip N. Howard, 2010-09-21 Around the developing world political leaders face a dilemma the very information and communication technologies that boost economic fortunes also undermine power structures Globally one in ten internet users is a Muslim living in a populous Muslim community In these countries young people are developing political identities online and digital technologies are helping civil society build systems of political communication independent of the state and beyond easy manipulation by cultural or religious elites With unique data on patterns of media ownership and technology use The Digital Origins of Dictatorship and Democracy demonstrates how since the mid 1990s information technologies have had a role in political transformation Democratic revolutions are not caused by new information technologies But in the Muslim world democratization is no longer possible without them Codesria Bulletin ,2002 Information and Communication Technologies for Development in Africa: The experience with community telecenters Ramata Molo Thioune, 2003 Volume 3 documents the processes used and institutions created to bring computers and connectivity into schools as a means of enhancing the use and integration of ICTs in teaching and learning A range of project administrative and cultural settings are explored as are a wide variety of technical solutions The results observations and conclusions presented in this book will be useful for policy and decision makers in education and ICTs The book will also be useful for teachers researchers and development practitioners and professionals with interests or active programs in the area of ICT for development Information technology professionals looking to service the potential education market will also find this book valuable International African Bibliography ,2005
