Rational: How We Think and How We Should Andrew McGee, Charles Foster, 2024-04-08 This book is about the respective roles of intuition and reasoning in ethics It responds to a number of well known philosophers and psychologists and proposes a new perspective radical in its moderation It examines in depth the work of the philosopher Joshua Greene and the psychologist Jonathan Haidt With the so called empirical turn in ethics much work has been done to try to isolate the role of reason and intuition in forming our moral judgements with Haidt and Greene leading the research programmes and attracting much of the professional and public attention and many others following The current view shared by both camps is that intuition is largely the driver of our moral judgements a view summed up in Haidt's slogan intuition first strategic reasoning second Haidt believes we have to live with this and accept it Greene does not he contends that our intuitions while suitable for the environments in which we evolved are worthless in the modern global technological age and to avoid ethical disaster we must learn to adopt reason as the arbiter of moral truth This book steers a middle course between these two positions and is therefore of great interest to philosophers and psychologists alike Intuition and reason and different conceptions of them lie behind many significant discussions in recent philosophical ethics and moral psychology One effect of those discussions has been the insertion of a wedge between the two notions In this engaging and fascinating book McGee and Foster make a thought provoking case for removing that wedge Professor Roger Crisp Professor of Moral Philosophy University of Oxford I wanted to cheer all the way through this beautifully written book one that is both incisive and profoundly humane So much moral philosophy is ensnared in simple rationalism or simple intuitionism this book argues that intuition and reason are not just at times compatible in a sort of uneasy compromise but that each is always essential to the proper functioning of the other Its takedown of so much utilitarianism is long overdue It embraces what can be learnt from neuroscience and at the same time appeals to morality in the practice of life not just in the seminar room A book that should be on every intelligent reader's shelves Dr Iain McGilchrist author of The Master and His Emissary and The Matter with Things What is the role of reason and intuition in ethics This spirited and thought 1 provoking book makes the case that the relationship between reason and intuition has been fundamentally mischaracterized And beware there is a degree of pain in store for those of us who've relied on and enjoyed elaborate philosophical thought experiments such as the famous trolley problem They're next to useless the authors contend in providing us with any genuine moral insight David Edmonds author of Would You Kill the Fat Man     The Child Welfare Manual ,1915     The Kindergarten Guide: an Illustrated Hand-book Designed for the Self-instruction of Kindergartners, Mothers and Nurses Maria Kraus-Bœlte,John Kraus,1877     Handbook of Philosophy of Education Randall Curren,2022-10-26 The Handbook of Philosophy of Education is a comprehensive guide to the most important questions about education that are being addressed by philosophers today Authored by an international team of distinguished philosophers its thirty five chapters address fundamental timely and controversial questions about educational aims justice policy and practices Part I Fundamental Questions addresses the aims of education authority to educate the roles of values and evidence in guiding educational choices and fundamental questions about human cognition learning well being and identity Part II Virtues of Mind and Character is concerned with the educational formation of personal attributes that are often seen as essential to flourishing individuals and societies This section includes chapters on the cultivation of intellectual and character virtues the nature and formation of expertise Stoic virtues and intellectual vices Part III Education and Justice addresses fundamental and emerging issues of educational justice from equal educational opportunity racial domination and linguistic justice in education to educational problems of mass migration global
