The Dark Side Emmanuel Raufflet, Albert J. Mills, 2017-09-08 The discredit of a certain brand of capitalism and the managers that practice it continues apace The increasing lack of tolerance for short term thinking and a systematic neglect of the social regulatory and economic conditions in which business ought to operate means we are entering a time of trouble and questions an era of economic social and environmental turbulence There is a critical need for business educators and trainers to expose students and managers to these issues to examine explore and understand the different multifaceted complex phenomena of our late capitalist era There is also a need to foster a climate for future and current business managers to reflect feel and think differently both ethically and cognitively The 16 innovative case studies in The Dark Side Critical Cases on the Downside of Business are designed for this very purpose to provoke reflection and debate to challenge and change perceptions and to create responsible managers The cases are innovative in two ways First in terms of content they acknowledge the diversity of actors and interests in and around organizations They contain different levels of analysis and propose different points of view and logics They recognize that decisions that seem sound when they are made may actually contain the seeds of their later failure Second these cases are innovative in terms of format Whereas most cases are formatted around decision making situations these are more diverse and open ended This stimulates the use of judgment the capacity to synthesize integrate and balance short and long term effects appreciate effects on different groups and learn to listen and evaluate Whereas decision making is the key skill when confronting complicated issues and situations judgment making relies on experience and is a far better tool in the complex murky gray areas typical of business ethics The cases included here are all finalists or award winners from the first seven years of the Dark Side of Business Case Competition a joint event of the Academy of Management's Critical Management Studies Section and Management Education Section In many areas of management case studies are almost exclusively devoted to best practice cases or difficult decisions faced by basically well managed firms When educators look for resources to illustrate to students the more typical cases let alone the really scandalous practices of the worst firms the cupboard is almost entirely bare From the beginning the Dark Side competition aimed at encouraging case studies that integrate socio political issues with organizational dynamics thus contextualizing organizational and management problems within the broader system of capitalism These cases comprise a diverse and rich collection from a range of countries continents and issues and focus on interactions in business organizations as well as between business organizations and groups and societies The Dark Side Critical Cases on the Downside of Business is divided into four sections The first sheds light on gray areas in the behavior of businesses The second concerns the interactions between business and local communities in diverse countries The third concerns crises and specifically how firms may create or manage them Finally the fourth section concerns gray areas in business behavior in the global context The Dark Side Critical Cases on the Downside of Business will be an essential purchase for educators and is expected to be a widely used resource at all levels of management education Online Teaching Notes to accompany each chapter are available on request with the purchase of the book      Handbook of Africa's International Relations Tim Murithi, 2013-09-05 Africa's international relations have often been defined and oriented by the dominant international and geopolitical agendas of the day In the aftermath of colonialism the Cold War became a dominant paradigm that defined the nature of the continent's relationship with the rest of the world The contemporary forces of globalization are now exerting an undue influence and impact upon Africa's international relations Increasingly the African continent is emerging as a vocal and in some respects an influential actor in international relations There is a paucity of analysis and research on this emerging trend This timely book proposes to fill this analytical gap by engaging with a wide range of issues with chapters written by experts on a variety of themes The emerging political prominence of the African continent on the world stage is predicated on an evolving internal process of continental integration In particular there are normative and policy efforts to revive the spirit of Pan Africanism the 21st century is witnessing the evolution of Pan Africanism notably through the constitution and establishment of the African Union AU Given the fact that there is a dearth of analysis on this phenomenon this volume will also interrogate the notion of Pan Africanism through various lenses notably peace and security development the environment and trade The volume will also engage with the emerging role of the AU as an international actor e.g. with regard to its role in the reform of the United Nations Security Council climate change the International Criminal Court ICC the treaty establishing Africa as a nuclear free zone Internally Displaced Persons the Millennium Development Goals MDGs international trade the environment public health issues security and development issues This book will assess how the AU's role as an international actor is complicated by the difficulty of promoting consensus among African states and then maintaining that consensus in the face of often divergent national interests This book will in part assess the role of the AU in articulating collective and joint policies and in making interventions in international decision and policy making circles The Handbook will also assess the role of African social movements and their relationship with global actors The role of African citizens in ameliorating their own conditions is often underplayed in the international relations discourse and this volume will seek to redress this oversight Throughout the book the various chapters will also assess the role that these citizen linkages have contributed towards continental integration and in confronting the challenges of globalization      Rwanda United States. Congress. House. Committee on International Relations. Subcommittee on International Operations and Human Rights, 1998      Human Rights Michael E. Goodhart, 2016 Human Rights Politics and Practice is the most complete most topical and most student friendly introduction to human rights Bringing together a range of international experts including political scientists philosophers lawyers and policy makers the book provides students with a broad range of perspectives on the theoretical and practical issues in this constantly evolving field In addition to in depth theoretical content the book also features unrivalled coverage of human rights issues in practice with a wide range of case studies to explore concrete examples from around the world The third edition has been brought fully up to date with the most recent events and latest research developments in the area Two new chapters have been added one on religion and human rights and one on sexual orientation and gender issues and human rights introducing students to these important topics and expanding the theoretical and practical discussion of issues of universalism and relativism The new edition also features a range of carefully developed pedagogical features to aid student learning encourage critical analysis and challenge students to question their own assumptions The book is accompanied by an Online Resource Centre to enhance students learning and provide valuable support for lecturers For students Revise key terms with a flashcard glossary Take your learning further with links to key human rights documents Use carefully selected web links as a first step towards independent research For registered lecturers Enhance your seminars with a specially developed active learning exercise Use adaptable PowerPoint slides as the basis for lecture presentations or as handouts in class Save time preparing assessments with a fully updated test bank of questions

Forgiveness: A Catholic Approach R. Scott Hurd, 2019-10-09 This revised and expanded edition of Forgiveness A Catholic Approach will equip and inspire you to move toward forgiving those who have hurt you With the power of God's grace you can work through the process of forgiveness and find freedom in Christ This book teaches all about forgiveness what forgiveness is and what it isn't how to forgive and why It addresses questions that Catholics grapple with today more than ever before forgiving the Church working with anger forgiving when we can't reconcile forgiving and not condoning behavior and how forgiveness doesn't mean we forget but helps us remember differently Filled with many vignettes of contemporary transgressions that have been transformed through acts of forgiveness including situations of domestic violence the Rwandan genocide and the attacks of September 11 2001 author Scott Hurd insightfully includes a chapter on Forgiving the Church which many believers will find helpful as we continue to struggle with the revelations of sexual abuse by clergy and its cover up Hurd's Forgiveness A Catholic Approach faithfully reveals the many misunderstood dimensions of forgiveness it's not something to be earned forced or deadline driven Forgiving is a decision a process and often a lifelong journey

Debating Genocide Lisa Pine, 2018-11-01 This book explores the subject of genocide through key debates and case studies It analyses the dynamics of genocide the processes and mechanisms of acts committed with the intention of destroying in whole or in part a national ethnic religious or racial group in order to shed light upon its origins characteristics and consequences Debating Genocide begins with an introduction to the concept of genocide It then examines the colonial genocides at the end of the 19th and start of the 20th centuries the Armenian Genocide of 1915 16 the Nazi Final Solution the Nazi genocide of the Gypsies mass murder in Cambodia under the Khmer Rouge the genocides in the 1990s in the former Yugoslavia and Rwanda and the genocide in Sudan in the early 21st century It also includes a thematic chapter which covers gender and genocide as well as issues of memory and memorialisation Finally the book considers how genocides end as well as the questions of resolution and denial with Lisa Pine examining the debates around prediction and prevention and the R2P Responsibility to Protect initiative This book is crucial for any students wanting to understand why genocides have occurred why they still occur and what the key historical discussions around this subject entail

Crime Without Borders Aaron Fichtelberg, Nicole Fox, Kai Lin, 2025-10-31 This book introduces students to the challenges related to international crime and punishment and the ways that criminal justice systems have sought to confront them The dismantling and opening up of borders by technology transportation international trade and the global flow of labor and capital have allowed those engaging in criminal behavior to work across borders in ways that challenge the traditional nation state and its criminal justice system making the study of international crime and justice increasingly relevant This book not only covers the nuts and bolts of international crime and law enforcement but also raises abstract theoretical issues for debate and asks critical questions about the ideal ways to think about international criminal justice problems Contemporary topics such as war crimes genocide crimes against humanity terrorism drug smuggling human trafficking financial crimes environmental crimes and cybercrime are addressed and connections between globalization politics and criminal justice reflect the modern realities of international and transnational crime Following an introductory chapter that presents the dimensions of international criminal justice the text is organized into two major parts the first part discussing major international crimes and why people engage in them and the second part laying out the central structures of the international criminal justice system including international courts transnational law enforcement and aspects of United States criminal justice developed to deal with international crimes Throughout the book the authors place global crime within the context of contemporary politics and current events Pedagogical tools such as summaries of significant international cases discussion questions and a thorough bibliography aid reader engagement and understanding This text is suitable for students in global criminology international crime and comparative criminology courses and researchers and policy makers concerned with international and transnational crime

Who Are My People? Emmanuel Katongole, 2022-05-01 Who Are My People explores the complex relationship between identity violence and Christianity in Africa In Who Are My People Emmanuel Katongole examines what it means to be both an African and a Christian in a continent that is often riddled with violence The driving assumption behind the investigation is that the recurring forms of violence in Africa reflect an ongoing crisis of belonging Katongole traces the crisis through three key markers of identity ethnicity religion and land He highlights the unique modernity of the crisis of belonging and reveals that its manifestations of ethnic religious and ecological violence are not three separate forms of violence but rather modalities of the same crisis This investigation shows that Christianity can generate and nurture alternative forms of community nonviolent agency and ecological possibilities The book is divided into two parts Part One deals with the philosophical and theological issues related to the question of African identity Part Two includes three chapters each of which engages a form of violence locating it within the broader story of modern sub Saharan Africa Each chapter includes stories of Christian individuals and communities who not only resist violence but are determined to heal its wounds and the burden of history shaped by Africa's unique modernity In doing so they invent new forms of identity new communities and a new relationship with the land This engaging interdisciplinary study combining philosophical analysis and theological exploration along with theoretical argument and practical resources will interest scholars and students of theology peace studies and African studies

Encountering Genocide Paul R. Bartrop, 2014-06-30 Cutting edge in its scope and approach this unique volume offers first person accounts of modern genocides to enable readers to more fully examine genocidal experiences and better understand the horror of such events From the atrocities of the Holocaust to the ongoing horrors in Darfur genocide has been a gruesome and all too prominent fixture of modern history There is no better way to examine and understand these events than through the accounts of those involved This unique collection of primary sources features 50 documents some of which have never before been made public These firsthand accounts diary entries memoirs oral testimony original interviews and more illuminate 10 genocides of the 20th and 21st centuries as they were experienced by victims perpetrators and bystanders The book begins with the Herero Genocide 1904 1907 and ends with a consideration of the atrocities in Darfur Each of the 50 documents features a brief introduction that provides basic and essential information such as who created it as well as when where and why The work concludes with an analysis comprised of scholarly commentary additional contextual information and a list of questions that will serve as a springboard for student discussion of history and of the nature of survival in the face of evil Human Rights Discourse in a Global Network Lena

Khor,2016-05-13 In her innovative study of human rights discourse Lena Khor takes up the prevailing concern by scholars who charge that the globalization of human rights discourse is becoming yet another form of cultural legal and political imperialism imposed from above by an international human rights regime based in the Global North To counter these charges she argues for a paradigmatic shift away from human rights as a hegemonic immutable and ill defined entity toward one that recognizes human rights as a social construct comprised of language and of language use She proposes a new theoretical framework based on a global discourse network of human rights supporting her model with case studies that examine the words and actions of witnesses to genocide Paul Rusesabagina and humanitarian organizations Doctors Without Borders She also analyzes the language of texts such as Michael Ondaatje's Anil's Ghost Khor's idea of a globally networked structure of human rights discourse enables actors textual and human who tap into or are linked into this rapidly globalizing system of networks to increase their power as speaking subjects and in so doing to influence the range of acceptable meanings and practices of human rights in the cultural sphere Khor's book is a unique and important contribution to the study of human rights in the humanities that revitalizes viable notions of agency and liberatory network power in fields that have been dominated by negative visions of human capacity and moral action Justice on the Grass Dina

Temple-Raston,2005 Award winning author and journalist Dina Temple Raston examines the horrific Rwanda genocide of 1994 and describes how a community picks up the pieces The Politics of Haunting and Memory in International Relations Jessica Auchter,2014-03-21 International Relations has traditionally focused on conflict and war but the effects of violence including dead bodies and memorialization practices have largely been considered beyond the purview of the field Drawing on Jacques Derrida's notion of hauntology to consider the politics of life and death Auchter traces the story of how life and death and a clear division between the two is summoned in the project of statecraft She argues that by letting ourselves be haunted or looking for ghosts it is possible to trace how statecraft relies on the construction of such a dichotomy Three empirical cases offer fertile ground for complicating the picture often painted of memorialization Rwandan genocide memorials the underexplored case of undocumented immigrants who die crossing the US Mexico border and the body ruins nexus in 9 11 memorialization Focusing on the role of dead bodies and the construction of particular spaces as the appropriate sites for memory to be situated it offers an alternative take on the new materialisms movement in international relations by asking after the questions that arise from an ethnographic approach to the subject viewing things from the perspective of dead bodies who occupy the shadowy world of post conflict international politics This work will be of great interest to students and scholars of critical international relations security studies statecraft and memory studies
