Aikens,2017-12-24 Excerpt from Hospital Training School Methods and the Head Nurse Vol 1 One of the most significant and at the same time hopeful words used in discussing present conditions is the word problem We hear it everywhere Church problems industrial problems social problems city problems rural problems loom up on every side The word itself is prophetic for as soon as a condition takes definite shape as a problem demanding solution the time of its solution is never very far distant The hospital world has its problems weighty and perplexing many of them are Not the least of these is the training school The training school has been for years a very perplexing as well as a highly important part of hospital work Considering the fact that every year boards of managers with but very imperfect conceptions of their responsibilities have been busy launching and managing training schools and that nurses and physicians with just as imperfect conceptions of the qualifications and requirements for teaching have assumed the responsibilities of instructors in these training schools it is not strange that the training school problem has arisen Confusing and difficult as it is at present the condition would be still more unfortunate and discouraging if it were not regarded as a problem if this present chaotic condition did not perplex and disturb In the beginning of the era of trained nursing in America we were satisfied with a rudimentary training About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
