Journal of the Senate of the United States of America United States. Congress. Senate,1978 More Than Shelter Amy L. Howard,2014-05-01 In the popular imagination public housing tenants are considered at best victims of intractable poverty and at worst criminals More Than Shelter makes clear that such limited perspectives do not capture the rich reality of tenants active engagement in shaping public housing into communities By looking closely at three public housing projects in San Francisco Amy L Howard brings to light the dramatic measures tenants have taken to create and sustain and strengthen communities that mattered to them More Than Shelter opens with the tumultuous institutional history of the San Francisco Housing Authority from its inception during the New Deal era through its repeated leadership failures to its attempts to boost its credibility in the 1990s Howard then turns to Valencia Gardens in the Mission District built in 1943 the project became a perpetually contested and embattled space Within that space tenants came together in what Howard calls affective activism activism focused on intentional relationships and community building that served to fortify residents in the face of shared challenges Such activism also fueled cross sector coalition building at Ping Yuen in Chinatown bringing tenants and organizations together to advocate for and improve public housing The account of their experience breaks new ground in highlighting the diversity of public housing in more ways than one The experience of North Beach Place in turn raises questions about the politics of development and redevelopment in this case Howard examines activism across generations first by African Americans seeking to desegregate public housing then by cross racial and cross ethnic tenant groups mobilizing to maintain public housing in the shadow of gentrification Taken together the stories Howard tells challenge assumptions about public housing and its tenants and make way for a broader more productive and inclusive vision of the public housing program in the United States Federal Register ,2012-06 The Art of Kubernesis (1

Driving Detroit George Galster, 2012-08-16

For most of the twentieth century Detroit was a symbol of American industrial might a place of entrepreneurial and technical ingenuity where the latest consumer inventions were made available to everyone through the genius of mass production Today Detroit is better known for its dwindling population moribund automobile industry and alarmingly high murder rate In Driving Detroit author George Galster a fifth generation Detroiters and internationally known urbanist sets out to understand how the city has come to represent both the best and worst of what cities can be all within the span of a half century Galster invites the reader to travel with him along the streets and into the soul of this place to grasp fully what drives the Motor City With a scholar s rigor and a local s perspective Galster uncovers why metropolitan Detroit s cultural commercial and built landscape has been so radically transformed He shows how geography local government structure and social forces created a housing development system that produced sprawl at the fringe and abandonment at the core Galster argues that this system in tandem with the region s automotive economic base has chronically frustrated the population s quest for basic physical social and psychological resources These frustrations in turn generated numerous adaptations distrust scapegoating identity politics segregation unionization and jurisdictional fragmentation that collectively leave Detroit in an uncompetitive and unsustainable position Partly a self portrait in which Detroiters paint their own stories through songs poems and oral histories Driving Detroit offers an intimate insightful and perhaps controversial explanation for the stunning contrasts poverty and plenty decay and splendor despair and resilience that characterize the once mighty city
