No-Nonsense Guide to International Development Maggie Black, 2007      The No-nonsense Guide to International Development Maggie Black, 2002 All too often what passes for development improves life for the better off while actively hurting the very people the venture was meant to support back cover      The No-nonsense Guide to International Development Maggie Black, 2007 Building dams in India planting trees in Burkina Faso rescuing street children in Brazil these are images of aid and international development with which we can all identify However what passes for development all too often improves life for the better off while actively hurting the very people the venture was meant to support Maggie Black exposes the hypocrisy and reveals a more accurate picture of what is happening in development's name arguing for a process to be put in place that truly defends the interests of poor people      No-Nonsense Guide to International Development, 2nd Edition, 2007 Overseas aid and international development are catch all terms that cover a multitude of activities and abuses Building dams in India planting trees in Burkina Faso and rescuing street children in Brazil are images of development with which we can all identify But what few people realize is that the terms aid and development often mask confusion contradiction and even downright deceit The updated version of 2002's best selling No Nonsense Guide to International Development explains what development actually is and explores its political and economic roots in history It shows what can happen in the name of development and argues for a more organic social approach with those it seeks to serve as equal partners in the process      The No-nonsense Guide to Global Terrorism Jonathan Barker, 2008 A highly accessible history of terrorism looking at core examples from the Middle East instances of state terrorism and terrorist fringes of political movements Covers the theories justifying and guiding terrorist acts and the battle of images that accompanies them including the proliferation of terrorist activities over recent years and international hotspots the war on terror terrorist acts carried out by states and the constraints on democracy and political and civil liberties that so often characterise the response to terrorism      The No-Nonsense Guide to International Migration Peter Stalker, 2008-04-01 Virtually any commodity can move around the world to satisfy demand but human beings have far less freedom Many would be migrants are forced to risk life and limb traveling illegally Yet most rich countries are short of workers have shrinking populations and need more immigrants This is a timely guide to a major issue that is never far from the political headlines Peter Stalker is a former co editor of the New Internationalist who now works as a consultant to a number of UN agencies He has written two books on migration for the International Labor Organization      NoNonsense International Development Maggie Black, 2015      The No-nonsense Guide to the United Nations Maggie Black, 2008 Conveys the complexity of the UN assesses its record and considers options for reform      The No-nonsense Guide to Conflict and Peace Peter Greener, 2006 This invaluable guide is excellent for students peace groups and activists With tables maps case studies and quotes it looks at how conflict escalates and ways it can be prevented It examines the changing types of war including the

War on Terror and ethnic conflict such as in Rwanda the role of diplomacy and the UN and what steps ordinary people are taking to re build communities It also offers ideas and inspiration for creating lasting peace

The No-Nonsense Guide to Women's Rights Nikki van der Gaag,2008-11-01 Has the battle for women s rights been won Not when women still make up 70 percent of the world s poor This guide examines the advances that have been made and looks beneath the surface to find out what the reality is for women all around the world It shows how in this post feminist age women s rights are still very much an issue Nikki van der Gaag is a freelance writer editor and evaluator on development issues Prior to this she was editorial director at the Panos Institute and co editor of the New Internationalist magazine

The No-nonsense Guide to Indigenous Peoples Lotte Hughes,2003 Indigenous peoples have long suffered from exoticization Outsiders elevate their beauty remoteness and difference and do not see beyond this to the real problems they face The No Nonsense Guide to Indigenous Peoples looks beyond the exotic images tracing the stories of different indigenous peoples from their first and often fatal contact with explorers and colonizers Much of this history is told here by indigenous people themselves They vividly describe why land and the natural world are so special to them how it feels to be snatched from your family as a child because the government wants to make you white why they are demanding that museums must return the bones of their ancestors how can they retain their traditional culture while moving with the times and what kinds of development are positive This short guide discusses all this and more raising countless issues for debate

The No-Nonsense Guide to Fair Trade David Ransom,2006-10-01 Meeting the people who grow our bananas and cocoa and make our clothes this No Nonsense Guide to Fair Trade tells the human story behind what we consume Examin ing the global contest between free and fair trade David Ransom argues that the key question is not whether trade should be regulated or deregulated but whether it is to be the master or servant of the people And as fair trade products are being turned into brands by large corporations a new contest opens it is no longer just a question of fair versus free but what kind of fair trade

The No-Nonsense Guide to World Food Wayne Roberts,2008-09-01 Covering fast food organic food junk food institutional food and more this guide shows how real food has become increasingly scarce with production and distribution increasingly dominated in the West by agri business The guide goes on to present the alternatives that are emerging based on the concept of community food security Wayne Roberts is a leading North American writer activist and practitioner in community food security An author and columnist for NOW Magazine he s on the board of the Community Food Security Coalition and Food Secure Canada and coordinates the Toronto Food Policy Council the most respected city food group in the world
