Nonfinite Structures in Theory and Change D. Gary Miller, 2002 This book investigates the precise nature of nonfinite structures and explores the ways in which they change Gary Miller examines a broad range of structures including traditional infinitives gerunds and participles across different Indo European and some non Indo European languages now and in the past As structures which are nonfinite in some languages are not so in others the question arises whether the concept nonfinite has any meaning or explanatory power In seeking an answer to this conundrum the author shows that infinitives with subject person agreement such as in West Greenlandic Modern Greek Portuguese Welsh and Hungarian share properties with prototypical nonfinite formations Professor Miller examines languages with morphologically marked tense on infinitives including Ancient Greek and Latin and Modern Turkish He demonstrates that nonfinite structures that can be assigned non structural inherent or semantic case differ systematically from those with either structural or no case The book concludes with a substantial history of infinitives gerunds and participles in Old and Middle English which reveals why and how nonfinite structures change and vary over time Gary Miller's innovative theoretical reasoning and the wide range of evidence on which it is brought to bear make this book a considerable contribution to the understanding of grammatical change and its formal expression as well as to the history of English

Unlocking the Nature of Human Aggression

Adrian Perkel, 2023-12-12 Unlocking the Nature of Human Aggression is a neuropsychanalytic and scientific exploration of aggression and argues for its central role in psychopathology and the genesis of individual symptoms as well as in broader systemic conflicts and violence Adrian Perkel creates a unique theoretical approach to the various manifestations we encounter of individual group and geo political aggression and destructiveness Based on psychoanalytic investigations of this dynamic and Freud's incomplete exploration of this human drive this book seeks to understand the science of aggression that Freud himself suggested would be possible with time and scientific development Perkel investigates the commonplace inversion of the perpetrator and victim narratives navigating through the complexity of how the aggressive drive often driven by feelings aimed at homeostatic regulation challenges the perception of any objective view of who is perpetrator and who victim He includes his own personal experiences of South African Apartheid as well as historical and contemporary data such as speeches from historical figures during times of war including the Second World War and the Ukrainian Russian conflict Offering a fresh and innovative insight into the nature of this paradoxical drive in humans this book integrates the psychology psychodynamics and neuroscience of modern research into a coherent exposition of this key aspect of psychic functioning in humans It is an essential read for analysts in practice and training psychologists and other mental health professionals and students looking for a modernised theoretical model of the destructive and aggressive drive of the psyche to facilitate better interventions for individual and couple patients and for interventions at systemic and organisational levels Parameters and Functional

Heads Adriana Belletti, Luigi Rizzi, 1996-04-25 The essays collected in this volume most previously unpublished address a number of closely interconnected issues raised by the comparative syntax of functional heads within the Principles and Parameters approach The general theory of head movement the properties of derived structures created by incorporation and the parameterization involved are the main theoretical foci One major empirical area which is addressed concerns head movement in configurations involving certain kinds of operator like elements for example the different manifestations of Verb Second phenomena in Wh and other constructions and the syntax of negative heads and specifiers In addition properties of functional heads and head movement in nominal and clausal structures and the causative construction are investigated

Investigating Franz Kafka's "Der Bau" Andrea Ebarb, 2023-04-27 In 2016 the Israeli Supreme Court ruled that Max Brod

s posthumous papers which included a collection of Kafka's manuscripts be transferred to the National Library of Israel in Jerusalem. If Kafka's writings may be seen to belong to Jewish national culture and if they may be considered part of Israel's heritage then their analysis within a Jewish framework should be both viable and valuable. This volume is dedicated to the research of Franz Kafka's late narrative The Burrow and its autobiographical and theological significance. Research is extended to incorporate many fields of study: architecture, sound studies, philosophy, cultural studies, Jewish studies, literary studies to illustrate the dynamics at work within the text which reveal the Jewish aspects implicitly thematized. Examination of the structure created, the nature of sound perceived, the atmosphere experienced and the acts performed by the protagonist serve as the foundation of this analysis and offer new access to Kafka's work by presenting an interpretive space. A semantic approach Der Bau is presented as a life concept given the task of constituting identity, highlighting the critical link between the literary and biographical Kafka and demonstrating the necessity of understanding the author as a Jewish writer to understand his late narrative. For her outstanding research project, Andrea Newsom Ebarb was awarded the Forschungspreis der Vereinigung der Freunde der Universität Mainz e.V. in 2023. Great English Plays Harold F. Ten Lectures on Diachronic Construction Grammar Martin Hilpert, 2021-09-13 In this book, Martin Hilpert lays out how Construction Grammar can be applied to the study of language change. In a series of ten lectures on Diachronic Construction Grammar, the book presents the theoretical foundations, open questions, and methodological approaches that inform the constructional analysis of diachronic processes in language. The lectures address issues such as constructional networks, competition between constructions, shifts in collocational preferences, and differentiation and attraction in constructional change. The book features analyses that utilize modern corpus linguistic methodologies and that draw on current theoretical discussions in usage-based linguistics. It is relevant for researchers and students in cognitive linguistics, corpus linguistics, and historical linguistics. Mood in the Languages of Europe Björn Rothstein, Rolf Thieroff, 2010-12-15 This book is the first comprehensive survey of mood in the languages of Europe. It gives readers access to a collection of data on mood. Each article presents the mood system of a specific European language in a way that readers not familiar with this language are able to understand and to interpret the data. The articles contain information on the morphology and semantics of the mood system, the possible combinations of tense and mood morphology, and the possible uses of the non-indicative moods. The papers address the explanation of mood from an empirical and descriptive perspective. This book is of interest to scholars of mood and modality, language contact, and areal linguistics and typology. New Monthly Magazine, and Universal Register, 1825 The New Monthly Magazine and Universal Register, 1825
