University College,1934 Learning from Scant Beginnings John V. Knapp,2008 Using the teaching of John Milton as a case study this book describes how a university English professor teaches an undergraduate course over a semester Employing a situated learning model the author describes the details of literary learning and student development Up from Slavery; an Unfinished Journey Archie Morris III D.P.A.,2019-03-21 For a period of eighty five years the M Street Dunbar High School was an academically elite all black public high school in Washington DC As far back as 1899 its students came in first in citywide tests given in both black and white schools Over this eighty five year span approximately 80 percent of M Street Dunbar s graduates went on to college even though most Americans white or black did not attend college at all Faculty and students were mutually respectful to one another and disruptions in the classroom were not tolerated Yet in this era of best practices this public high school has received virtually no attention in the literature or in policy considerations for inner city education The Dunbar High School today with its new building and athletic facilities is just another ghetto school with abysmal standards and low test score results despite the District of Columbia's record of having some of the country's highest levels of money spent per pupil. The purpose of this study is to explore the history of a high school that was successful in teaching black children from low income families and to determine if the learning model employed there could be successful in a modern inner city public education environment.

Narratives in the Making Mary Beattie, 2003-01-01. At Corktown Community High School in Toronto, importance is placed on the education of the whole person. An alternative secondary school, it emphasizes the development of self knowledge and responsiveness to others, creative and critical thought and connectedness through the self, the school, community and society. Narratives in the Making is based on a research project carried out at the school as part of a large scale national research study. The Exemplary Schools Project. Corktown, a pseudonym, was selected as a participant in this study because of its unusually high rate of student retention, student engagement, achievement and success. Using narrative accounts of classroom and school practices, profiles of teachers and students and language that is accessible to both practitioners and academics, Mary Beattie provides insights and explanations of the meaning of success as it is understood by Corktown teachers, students, parents, alumni and school administrators. She shows how the whole person concept is incorporated into the school environment and why relationships are at the heart of teaching and learning. Catalogue State University of Iowa, 1907.

Curiosity Alberto Manguel, 2015-01-01. An eclectic history of human curiosity, a great feast of ideas and a memoir of a reading life from an internationally celebrated reader and thinker. Curiosity has been seen through the ages as the impulse that drives our knowledge forward and the temptation that leads us toward dangerous and forbidden waters. The question Why has appeared under a multiplicity of guises and in vastly different contexts throughout the chapters of human history. Why does evil exist? What is beauty? How does language inform us? What defines our identity? What is our responsibility to the world? In Alberto Manguel's most personal book to date, the author tracks his own life of curiosity through the reading that has mapped his way. Manguel chooses as his guides a selection of writers who sparked his imagination. He dedicates each chapter to a single thinker, scientist, artist or other figure who demonstrated in a fresh way how to ask Why. Leading us through a full gallery of inquisitives among them Thomas Aquinas, David Hume, Lewis Carroll, Rachel Carson, Socrates and most importantly Dante, Manguel affirms how deeply connected our curiosity is to the readings that most astonish us and how essential to the soaring of our own imaginations.
