Plan d'Action National d'Adaptation Aux Changements Climatiques Pana:

Plan d'Action National d'Adaptation aux Changements Climatiques (PANA) ,2015-04-15 En ratifiant en 1993 la Convention cadre des Nations Unies sur les changements climatiques la Guinée s'est engagée à œuvrer pour une politique de développement durable Le Plan d'Action National d'Adaptation aux Changements Climatiques se fixe comme but d'exposer les mesures urgentes à entreprendre pour s'adapter aux effets néfastes des changements climatiques : amélioration de la desserte en eau particulièrement en milieu rural protection de la zone côtière sauvegarde des formations forestières etc Climate Change, Forced Migration, and International Law Jane McAdam,2012-02-23 Displacement caused by climate change is an area of growing concern With current rises in sea levels and changes to the global climate it is an issue of fundamental importance to the future of many parts of the world This book critically examines whether States have obligations to protect people displaced by climate change under international refugee law international human rights law and the international law on statelessness Drawing on field work undertaken in Bangladesh India and the Pacific island States of Kiribati and Tuvalu it evaluates whether the phenomenon of climate change induced displacement is an empirically sound category for academic inquiry It does so by examining the reasons why people move or choose not to move the extent to which climate change as opposed to underlying socio economic factors provides a trigger for such movement and whether traditional international responses such as the conclusion of new treaties and the creation of new institutions are appropriate solutions in this context In this way the book queries whether flight from habitat destruction should be viewed as another facet of traditional international protection or as a new challenge requiring more creative legal and policy responses law and the international law on statelessness Drawing on Adaptation au changement climatique et coopération pour le développement : Document d'orientation OECD,2009-11-17 Cette publication présente des informations et des conseils essentiels sur les moyens d'intégrer effectivement l'adaptation au changement climatique dans les pratiques de développement GEF Country Portfolio Evaluation: Benin (1991-2007) , West African Agriculture and Climate Change Abdulai Jalloh,Gerald C. Nelson,Timothy S. Thomas,Robert Bellarmin Zougmore,Harold Roy-Macauley,2013-01-01 The first of three books in IFPRI's climate change in Africa series West African Agriculture and Climate Change A Comprehensive Analysis examines the food security threats facing 11 of the countries that make up West Africa Benin Burkina Faso Côte d'Ivoire Ghana Guinea Liberia Niger Nigeria Senegal Sierra Leone and Togo and explores how climate change will increase the efforts needed to achieve sustainable food security throughout the region West Africa's population is expected to grow at least through mid century The region will also see income growth Both will put increased pressure on the natural resources needed to produce food and climate change makes the challenges greater West Africa is already experiencing rising temperatures shifting precipitation patterns and increasing extreme events Without attention to adaptation the poor will suffer Through the use of hundreds of scenario maps models figures and detailed analysis the editors and contributors of West African Agriculture and Climate Change present plausible future scenarios that combine economic and biophysical characteristics to explore the possible consequences for agriculture food security and resources management to 2050 They also offer recommendations to national governments and regional economic agencies already dealing with the vulnerabilities of climate change and deviations in environment Decisionmakers and researchers will find West African Agriculture and Climate Change a vital tool for shaping policy and studying the various and likely consequences of climate change

Burundi International Monetary Fund. African Dept., 2022-07-29 Selected Issues La REDD+ et l'adaptation aux changements climatiques au Burkina Faso Hermann W. Kambire, Ida Nadia S. Djenontin, Augustin Kabore, Houria Djoudi, Michael P. B. Balinga, Mathurin Zida, Samuel Assembe-Mvondo, 2015-05-27 Le présent profil du Burkina Faso en matière de REDD s'inscrit dans une dynamique d'analyse contextuelle au niveau national de l'opportunité ou des contraintes de sa mise en œuvre Pays sahélien le Burkina Faso a été choisi comme participant au PIF grâce son potentiel substantiel de séquestration de carbone des forêts riches au niveau mondial et son expérience importante dans la gestion participative des ressources naturelles Les superficies forestières estimées 13 305 238 ha subissent une dégradation et une déforestation accrues sous la double pression humaine et naturelle La surexploitation et la gestion non durable des forêts amplifiées par l'expansion agricole et le boom minier sont les principaux moteurs de cette dégradation et déforestation travers le PIF le Burkina Faso a laboré et adopté son RPP en 2012 Le processus REDD bénéficie de politiques et stratégies existantes qui lui sont favorables mais l'analyse de leur performance réduire ou favoriser la dégradation et la déforestation des ressources forestières révèle que certaines politiques ont été guidées par une logique de maximisation des retombées socio-économiques plus que de protection de l'environnement. La laboration de la stratégie REDD sa mise en œuvre et sa réussite doivent se nourrir d'une évaluation en termes d'efficacité et d'impact des éléments clés que sont le contexte institutionnel et de gouvernance la coordination des actions la participation des acteurs les mécanismes de MNV de partage des revenus. Pour ce faire la mise en œuvre des deux projets du PIF constitue un processus d'apprentissage et un cadre de réflexion pour la REDD.

Climate-Resilient Development Astrid Carrapatoso, Edith Kürzinger, 2013-10-01 The concept of resilience currently infuses policy debates and public discourse and is promoted as a normative concept in climate policy making by governments non governmental organizations and think tanks This book critically discusses climate resilient development in the context of current deficiencies of multilateral climate management strategies and processes It analyses innovative climate policy options at national inter regional and local levels from a mainly Southern perspective thus contributing to the topical debate on alternative climate governance and resilient development models Case studies from Africa Asia and Latin America give a ground level view of how ideas from resilience could be used to inform and guide more radical development and particularly how these ideas might help to rethink the notion of progress in the light of environmental social economic and cultural changes at multiple scales from local to global It integrates theory and practice with the aim of providing practical solutions to improve complement or where necessary reasonably bypass the UNFCCC process through a bottom up approach which can effectively tap unused climate resilient development potentials at the local national and regional levels This innovative book gives students and researchers in environmental and development studies as well as policy makers and practitioners a valuable analysis of climate change mitigation and adaptation options in the absence of effective multilateral provisions

Resilient Cities Konrad Otto-Zimmermann, 2011-05-16 Even with significant reductions of greenhouse gas emissions a certain degree of climate change will inevitably occur Adapting to climate change then will become a necessary step in reducing the vulnerability of many regions across the globe This is especially true for urban areas where climate change has been shown to have particularly destabilizing effects Through the identification and analysis of the most relevant impacts facing urban areas this book makes clear the need to incorporate climate change concerns into the mainstream of local planning governance and policy making practices Adaptation as a workable concept within urban areas cannot be treated in isolation from the many pre-existing challenges facing cities By offering numerous examples of ongoing adaptation programs and strategies across a wide range of contexts the authors show the growing potential of cities in the fight against climate change This book has its origins in a collection of papers originally presented at the Resilient Cities 2010 Congress in Bonn Germany May 2010 the first global forum on cities and adaptation to climate change convened by ICLEI Local Governments for Sustainability In this volume the first in a new series dedicated to this annual event a range of contributors bring their perspectives to bear on the most pressing issues and controversies surrounding adaptation to climate change within cities These writings will prove invaluable to anyone

Climate Change and Water Resources in Africa Salif Diop, Peter Scheren, Awa Niang, 2021-02-15 The focus of this book is on the key water related vulnerabilities to climate change in Africa particularly in its most vulnerable areas exploring potential management responses to such vulnerabilities The African countries are particularly exposed and vulnerable to the negative impacts of climate change with important impacts on water resources and hydrological systems water availability water resource management and sea level variations

Already under various anthropogenic pressures the status of water resources in Africa has been changing over the past decades with decreasing water quality falling groundwater levels and variability in rainfall both in terms of timing and intensity Climate change will further accelerate the rate of change affecting the ability of people and societies to respond in a timely manner It is clear that there is no quick fix to the pressures imposed on water resources by climate change Increasing the resilience of ecosystems and communities to extreme events such as flooding and drought and integrating climate change risks and opportunities into development decision making is indeed a key challenge as much a technical climate change one as a political and developmental challenge The book in this regard intends to contribute to the debate around climate change in relation to water resources management in Africa and in particular inform policy decisions and actions that will improve governments and communities ability to manage the challenges of climate change and variability in relation to the aquatic ecosystems that they depend on The knowledge collected in this book will benefit policy makers researchers as well as other stakeholders

Fonds Pour l'Environnement Mondial Financer l'adaption Au Changement Climatique Global Environment Facility,2011-05-02 The context of REDD+ in the Democratic Republic of Congo Kengoum, F.,Pham, T.T.,Moeliono, M.,Dwisatrio, B.,Sonwa, D.J.,2020-10-20 DRC has committed to reduce its emissions effectively efficiently and equitably from deforestation and degradation REDD The country experiences complex relationships between drivers agents and institutions of deforestation nationally The REDD policy arena is influenced by both governmental and non governmental actors whose number have increased in the policy arena over the years however weak coordination among these actors remains an issue Since 2009 the DRC has announced several reforms relating to land tenure land use planning and agricultural policy to create an institutional environment that motivates the implementation of REDD in the DRC By 2019 none of these reforms had materialized due to both political changes and a lack of finance capacity and political will Between 2013 and 2019 little progress has been made on REDD in the DRC as a result of conflicting interests among actors both at national and decentralized levels information asymmetry elite capture and corruption and the pre and post election situation To date the effectiveness of REDD activities in the DRC remain unclear due to the absence of rigorous impact assessment However efforts can be observed on the field where there is increased number of participants to forest policy process compared to REDD early years and several ongoing projects are testing policy options within and across levels If these efforts are sustained they can contribute in putting in place conditions to achieve REDD objectives

nable aux catastrophes naturelles et aux changements climatiques doit devenir un champ d'action privilégié pour l'adaptation et la mise en place de stratégies de résilience. La participation et l'action de la jeunesse haïtienne en faveur de l'environnement et du développement durable doivent être encouragées pour lutter contre la marginalisation. Cependant, la littérature d'identification précise ment la jeunesse haïtienne et sa participation à la gouvernance du développement durable au niveau stratégique comme technique est encore naissante. Il existe très peu de documentation complète dans ce domaine. La publication comble en partie ce manque d'informations concernant la jeunesse et la société civile haïtienne dans la mise en œuvre de stratégies de développement durable. L'ouvrage centralise des données de référence actualisées sur les jeunes, l'environnement et le développement durable. Il fournit un aperçu précis de l'économie haïtienne de son potentiel pour l'employabilité et l'entrepreneuriat des jeunes Haïtiens et dresse le portrait de l'éducation non formelle, de la formation professionnelle, de l'orientation professionnelle et du soutien à l'innovation.
