

Using Dichotomous Key to Identify Sharks

Classification is a way of separating a large group of closely related organisms into smaller subgroups. The scientific names of organisms are based on the classification systems of living organisms. The identification of an organism is easy with a classification system. To identify an organism, scientists often use a key. A key is a listing of characteristics, such as structure and behavior, organized in such a way that an organism can be identified.

Procedure

1. Use the image below as a guide to the parts of a shark's body that are used in the dichotomous key.

Image source

2. Read statements 1A and 1B of the key. They describe a shark characteristic that can be used to separate the sharks into two major groups. Then study organism #1 in the image below for the characteristic referred to in 1A and 1B. Follow the directions until the name for Shark 1 is determined.

For example, to key a shark that has a body that is NOT kite-shaped when viewed from above and has a pelvic fin and six gill slits, follow the directions of 1B and go directly to statement 2. Follow statement 2B to statements 3. At statement 3A, identify the shark as belonging to Family Hexanchidae.

3. Continue using the key, always starting back at Statement 1a and 1b for each shark until all have been identified. Indicate the family name for each shark in Figure 2 on your word processing document. Then complete the questions under 'Conclusion.'

Conclusion

1. What is a classification key and how is it used?
2. List four different characteristics that were used in the shark key.
3. Which main characteristic could be used to distinguish shark 4 from shark 8?
4. Which main characteristic could be used to distinguish shark 4 from shark 7?

Shifting Concepts Teresa Marques,Åsa Wikforss,2020-09-03 Concepts stand at the centre of human cognition We use concepts in categorizing objects and events in the world in reasoning and action and in social interaction It is therefore not surprising that the study of concepts constitutes a central area of research in philosophy and psychology yet only recently have the two disciplines developed greater interaction Recent experiments in psychology that test the role of concepts in categorizing and reasoning have found a great deal of variation across individuals and cultures in categorization behaviour Meanwhile philosophers of language and mind have investigated the semantic properties of concepts and how concepts are related to linguistic meaning and linguistic communication A key motivation behind this was the idea that concepts must be shared across individuals and cultures With the dawn of experimental philosophy the proposal that the experimental data from psychology lacks relevance to semantics is increasingly difficult to defend This volume brings together leading psychologists and philosophers to advance the interdisciplinary debate on the role of concepts in categorizing and reasoning the relationship between concepts and linguistic meaning and communication the challenges conceptual variation poses to communication and the social and political effects of conceptual change Advances in Comparative Immunology Edwin L.
