

The Urinary System

The urinary system is responsible for filtering waste from the blood, maintaining fluid balance, and regulating blood pressure. It consists of the kidneys, ureters, bladder, and urethra.

The kidneys are located in the upper back, on either side of the spine. They are bean-shaped organs that filter blood and produce urine. The ureters are tubes that carry urine from the kidneys to the bladder.

The bladder is a sac-like organ that stores urine until it is ready to be expelled from the body. The urethra is the tube that carries urine from the bladder out of the body.

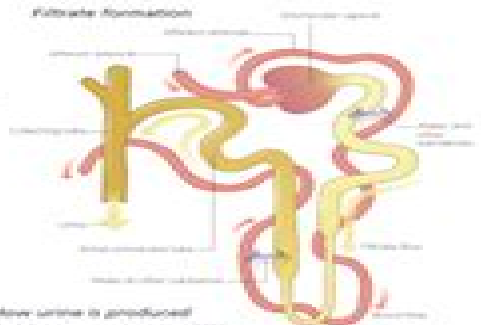

Structure of the kidneys

The kidneys are located in the upper back, on either side of the spine. They are bean-shaped organs that filter blood and produce urine. The ureters are tubes that carry urine from the kidneys to the bladder.

Functions of the kidneys

The kidneys have several functions, including filtering waste from the blood, maintaining fluid balance, and regulating blood pressure. They also produce hormones that help regulate the body's metabolism.

The nephron

The nephron is the basic functional unit of the kidney. It is responsible for filtering waste from the blood and producing urine.

A single nephron consists of a renal corpuscle, which is the site of filtrate formation, and a renal tubule, which carries the filtrate away from the corpuscle.

Glomerular filtration

Glomerular filtration is the process by which blood is filtered in the renal corpuscle. It is the first step in the formation of urine.

How urine is produced

The kidneys produce an average of 1.5 liters of urine each day. This process involves the filtration of blood in the renal corpuscle and the reabsorption of water and electrolytes in the renal tubule.

- Any stages of urine formation
- 1. Filtration - Filtering of water, waste products, nutrients, glucose, and other chemicals.
- 2. Reabsorption - Reabsorption of useful substances back to the bloodstream.
- 3. Secretion - Secretion of waste materials from capillaries into the renal tubule for removal with the urine.
