Primiani, 2008 The Brilliance of Black Children in Mathematics Jacqueline Leonard, Danny B. Martin, 2013-03-01

This book is a critically important contribution to the work underway to transform schooling for students who have historically been denied access to a quality education, specifically African American children. The first section of the book provides some historical perspective critical to understanding the current state of education in the U.S., specifically for the education of African American children. The following sections include chapters on policy, learning, ethnomathematics, student identity, and teacher preparation as it relates to the mathematical education of Black children. Through offering counternarratives about mathematically successful Black youth advocating for a curriculum that is grounded in African American culture and ways of thinking, providing shining examples of the brilliance of Black students, and promoting high expectations for all, rather than situating students as the problem, the authors of this book provide powerful insights related to the teaching and learning of mathematics for African American students. As is made evident in this book, effective teaching involves much more than just engaging students in inquiry-based pedagogy. Kitchen, 2003. The chapters offered in this book demonstrate how mathematics instruction for African American students needs to take into account historical marginalization and present-day policies that do harm to Black students. Kunjufu, 2005. Empowering mathematics instruction for African American students needs to take into consideration and promote students' cultural, spiritual, and historical identities. Furthermore, mathematics instruction for African American students should create opportunities for students to express themselves and the needs of their communities as a means to promote social justice both within their classrooms and communities.

Discipline Problems Tadashi Dozono,2024-05-07

Angel a Black tenth grader at a New York City public school self identifies as a nerd and likes to learn But she s troubled that her history classes leave out events like the genocide and dispossession of Indigenous people in the Americas presenting a sugar coated image of the United States that is at odds with her everyday experience The history I learned in school is simpler she says The world I live in is a lot more complex Angel like every student interviewed in Discipline Problems has been identified by teachers as a troublemaker a student whose behavior disrupts classroom norms and interferes with instruction But her critiques of the curriculum she s taught speak to her curiosity and insight crucial foundations for understanding history Like many students who have been marginalized by systemic racism in American schools she exposes the shortcomings of her classrooms academic environments by challenging both the content and the methods of her education All too often these challenges are framed as troublemaking and the students are disciplined for acting out instead of being rewarded for their intellectual engagement Tadashi Dozono a professor of education and former high school social studies teacher takes seriously the often overlooked critiques that students of color who get labeled as troublemakers direct toward their high school history curriculum He reinterprets troublemaking usually cast as a behavioral deficit as an intellectual asset and form of reasoning that challenges the disciplining reason of classrooms where whiteness is valued over the histories and knowledge of people of color Dozono shows how what are traditionally framed as discipline problems can be seen through a different lens as responses to educational practices that marginalize non white students Discipline Problems reveals how students of color seek out alternate avenues for understanding their world and imagines a pedagogy that champions the curiosity intellect and knowledge of marginalized learners

The Algebra Conspiracy Michael Wiener,2000-09 The Algebra Conspiracy is an irreverent radical politically incorrect passionate challenge to the increasingly popular program of the educational establishment which requires every student to take two to four years of college preparatory mathematics to earn a high school diploma These well meaning but misguided people are placing every secondary school student into Algebra Geometry and Trigonometry classes that they may not want that they may not need to fulfill requirements for future employment or that they may not be academically equipped to handle This means for instance that a youngster who has trouble adding common fractions computing with percents or even making change on a ten dollar purchase will nevertheless be required to pass Algebra and Geometry In many school districts this is already creating an academic nightmare as more and more math teachers are faced with the Hobson's choice of either failing many of their students who simply cannot handle Algebra and Geometry or handing out numerous gift D's or severely watering down the college prep mathematics curriculum so more students can pass the classes The author takes the controversial view that the Age of Technology notwithstanding a large percentage of today's secondary school youngsters could if allowed live their entire adult working lives very comfortably without ever being forced to set foot in Algebra and Geometry classrooms There are many other classes that these youngsters should be taking such as cultural or practical arts electives instead of wasting their time in college prep math classes
