What

Work as part of a team to get across a space – get a whole team across an area following certain rules.

Why

Working collaboratively in a team to solve a problem is a skill used widely. Being able to listen to the rules and be successful in getting the whole team across the space will require excellent teamwork.

How

Discuss the rules around what can be on the floor when crossing the space as a team. Devise a clear plan that everybody understands and agrees upon before starting the task. Be encouraging and supportive of all teammates throughout the task.

Work as a team to complete a task blindfolded – lead and be led to create shapes whilst blindfolded.

To make a shape as a group whilst most members are blindfolded requires the leader to use clear communication. They need to be in control of numerous people who cannot see and be able to get them to work together to complete the task safely.

As a leader, use clear communication to get across to the team what they need to be doing. Use verbal and tactile instructions to help them. Be supportive and reassuring to teammates to keep them safe and motivated.
