

Writing Observation Guide

Writing high-quality observations of children is an important part of the planning, teaching and assessment cycle of learning through play. You may have one staff member with responsibility for writing observations for their own group of key children, or staff may write observations for any child in the setting.

Observations can be used in several ways. One is to document and evidence the learning of individual children, which feeds into planning their next steps. Another use for observations is to form part of the responsive planning for the nursery or class. From observations, staff may add to or change resources to extend learning and may plan experiences and activities based around children's current interests.

A high-quality observation will include:

- information on what the child is doing/saying/creating
- precise language of skills and progression
- the curricular area(s) or the relevant experience(s) and outcome(s)
- the significance of the learning for this child (for example, whether it is the first time that they have done this independently)
- possible next steps

Next Steps

Below are next steps are possible and achievable for the child

The Early Years Foundation Stage is a useful tool when thinking about next steps.

Remember that you are writing a possible next step for the child. Their interests and learning may now be different from the planned next step.

The key next steps with parents will allow them to support their child's learning and evidence their achievements. It is important to show next steps with the child. The following have help in the learning process and enable them to be proud of their progress.
