Ending Africa's Energy Deficit and the Law Yinka Omorogbe, Ada Okoye Ordor, 2018 With the inclusion of access to energy in the sustainable development goals the role of energy to human existence was finally recognized Yet in Africa this achievement is far from realized Omorogbe and Ordor bring together experts in their fields to ask what is stalling progress examining problems from institutions catering to vested interests at the continent's expense to a need to develop vigorous financial and fiscal frameworks. The ramifications and complications of energy law are labyrinthine; this volume discusses how energy deficits can burden disabled people, women and children in excess of their more fortunate counterparts as well as considering environmental issues including the delicate balance between the necessity of water for drinking and cleaning and the use of water in industrial processes. A pivotal work of scholarship, the book poses pressing questions for energy law and international human rights. Mergent International Manual, 2003 Innovations in Urban Politics, The Nature and

Extent of Drug Use and the Prevalence of Related Problems in South Africa Lee Rocha-Silva, 1998. This project was motivated by a prevailing concern among national policy makers and service providers with preventing an expected increase in drug-related health and socioeconomic problems in South Africa, e.g. diseases such as HIV/AIDS, TB and Foetal Alcohol Syndrome, traffic accidents, crime, violence and loss of productivity. Cognizance was taken of the fact that comprehensive and integrated information critical for a cost-effective and co-ordinated prevention strategy in the RSA was lacking mainly because of limited to some extent unrefined and especially fragmented research infrastructure. Consequently, at the end of 1995 and under the leadership of the Centre for Alcohol Drug-related Research (HSRC), a number of stakeholder agents mobilized national surveillance of the nature, extent of drug use and related problems to inform and monitor the impact of preventive policy actions in South Africa. Collaborators represented policy makers, service providers and research houses from a wide array of contexts linked through the South African Researcher Practitioner Association (SARPA). During 1996, the foundation was laid for national surveillance. Cilliers, Markus Reichardt, 1996. 9 forskellige forfattere har hver ydet sit bidrag til denne bog, som er den første til at beskrive de militære hovedpersoner og efterspore de sikkerhedsmæssige aftaler som ligger bag de positive ændringer i det sydafrikanske militær og efterretningsvesen i første halvdel af 1990'erne. This book is the first of its kind to bring together a collection of critical scholarly work on consumer culture in South Africa, exploring the cultural, political, economic and social aspects of consumption in post-Apartheid society. From sushi and Japanese diplomacy to Queen Sophie's writhing gown, from middle-class Sowetan golfers to an indebted working-class citizenry, from wedding websites to wedding nostalgia, from the liberation of consuming to the low-wage labour of selling, the chapters in this book demonstrate a variety of themes showing that to start with consumption rather than ending with it allows for new insights into long-standing areas of social research. By mapping, exploring and theorizing the diverse aspects of consumption and consumer culture the volume collectively works towards a fresh set of empirically rooted conceptual commentaries on the politics economics and social dynamics of modern South Africa This effort in turn can serve as a foundation for thinking less parochially about neoliberal power and consumer culture On a global scale studying consumption in South Africa matters because in some ways the country serves as a microcosm for global patterns of income inequality race based economic oppression and hopes for the material betterment of life By exploring what consumption means on the local scale in South Africa the possibility arises to trace new global links and dissonances This book was originally published as a special issue of Critical Arts South African Mining & Engineering Journal ,1912
