Mathematical models describing the propagation of these signals are often formulated in terms of wave equations that are solved numerically in a discrete manner. This is done by discretizing the spatial domain and the time domain. The resulting equations are then solved using numerical methods such as finite difference, finite element, or spectral methods. The accuracy of the numerical solution depends on the discretization scheme and the numerical method used. In this paper, we will discuss the numerical solution of the wave equation for a system of coupled oscillators.
