

G&T 366 Development Frameworks

- Development Frameworks = Economic Geography
- Economic Activity and Space
- Economic organization and spatial change
- Our task: Economic patterns and search for explanations

Why the need for a global perspective?

- Rapidly increasing interdependence of world economy
- Socio-economic well-being depends on complex interactions framed at global level
- The importance of local, regional and national economies depends on their role in the global economy
- About of the world's 7 billion people live in countries integrated into the global market (goods, finances, labour etc)
- Regional, continental, inter-continental economic blocks foster globalization (BRICS, NICs)

Are there any losers in economic globalisation?

- Rising unemployment and wage inequality in industrial countries (production line workers)
- Cheap exports from lower cost producers
- Employers relocating abroad in search of low wages and lax labour laws
- Exploitation in less industrialised countries (human and natural resources). Research the examples of "Zame-zame" in SA and "Galamsey" in Ghana
- We will deal in detail with "Maquiladoras" in Mexico.

Our task is to make sense of global economic organisation and interrelationships, i.e.

- Developing an understanding of both the general economic forces and socio-economic relationships
- The unique features that represent local and historical variability
- Fig 1: the interrelationships surrounding economic organisation and spatial change
- Economic organisation causes and is affected by spatial change
- Causes and effects of Economic Organisation and Spatial Change
- These relationships are affected by Demographic Change, Political Change, Cultural Change, Social Change, Technological Change, Environmental Resources, Historical Legacy etc
