Lessons in Civics for the Three Primary Grades of City Schools (Classic Reprint) Hannah Margaret Harris, 2015-07-12 Excerpt from Lessons in Civics for the Three Primary Grades of City Schools Children s experience the basis of instruction Instruction in civics must be based on the children s experiences and should result not only in giving clearer and fuller information but also in creating the mental attitudes and habitual acts that characterize good citizenship at the given age It is to small purpose for instance that a child learns of the organization and work of the Street Cleaning Department if at the same time he continues to be careless about throwing banana skins around Materials that have place in an elementary civics course In planning a course in civics for young children there is a temptation to overload it with facts which will be forgotten before they are ever used We have repeatedly to remind ourselves that any material which has a legitimate place in the course holds that place because it is related to some civic situation in which a child is normally to be found and his reaction to which is capable of being modified by a civics lesson Of this sort of material there is no lack The children of our city schools have many experiences of civic significance upon which instruction can be based and there are many opportunities for instruction to be immediately applied greatly to the advantage of themselves of the city and of the nation For example all city children even the youngest in school have had their interest and curiosity aroused by the sight of a burning building and of a fire engine and crew dashing to the rescue Here is an experience which can be so interpreted and enlarged upon that children still too young for the study of municipal organization may be led to refrain from playing with fire and to regard firemen as heroes to be obeyed and to be emulated in coolness and courage If these effects are produced upon the habits of thought and action of a large number of small children who can doubt that the result will be not only a considerable safe guard to these individual children but also an actual decrease in fire loss and in the long run an appreciable gain to the resources of the nation in property and lives About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
