Building Interactive Systems Philip Gray, Roger Took, 2013-03-09 Architectures and tools are two important considerations in the construction of interactive computer systems. The former is concerned with the optimal structural organisation of systems and the latter with the effective support of the design and management of user interfaces. They are regarded as the areas of research most likely to contribute to the development of existing interactive systems in particular by providing improved architectures capable of supporting new styles of interaction and more sophisticated software tools to improve productivity. This volume combines the proceedings of two workshops held in York and Glasgow which concentrated on architectures and tools respectively. In doing so it addresses the problems of user interface construction from two complementary viewpoints and provides alternative perspectives on many of the central issues. Some of the papers are published in expanded form to provide a more comprehensive coverage of the topics and two additional papers have been included which offer a useful insight into issues raised by the workshops. The papers address formal and theoretical concerns as well as academic and commercial ones. Specific topics covered include novel input models, architectures for real time systems and object oriented user interface tools for X widgets, NeWS and Smalltalk based applications. The papers also include presentations of new tools and architectural designs. Building Interactive Systems: Architectures and Tools provides the most extensive recent account of research into the relationship between architectures and tools in the construction of interactive computer systems and will be of interest to researchers, postgraduate students and software developers.

Design and Implementation of Symbolic Computation Systems Alfonso Miola, 1990-03-26 The growing importance of the systems for symbolic computation has greatly influenced the decision of organizing DISCO 90 which is short for International Symposium on Design and Implementation of Symbolic Computation Systems. DISCO 90 focuses mainly on the most innovative methodological and technological aspects of hardware and software system design and implementation for Symbolic and Algebraic Computation, Automated Reasoning, Software Environments, Languages and User Interfaces and Automatic Programming. In particular it includes papers on the design and the development of significant running systems. The general objective of DISCO 90 is to present an up to date view of the field while encouraging the scientific exchange among academic, industrial and user communities of the development of systems for symbolic computation. Housecraft, 1979 Moody's International Manual, 1997 Database and Expert Systems Applications Vladimir Marik, Jiri Lazansky, 1993-08-25 This volume constitutes the proceedings of the 4th International Conference on Database and Expert Systems Applications, DEXA, held in Prague, Czech Republic, in September 1993. Traditionally the objective of the DEXA conferences is to serve as an international forum for the discussion and exchange of research results and practical experience among theoreticians and professionals working in the field of database and artificial intelligence technologies. Despite the fact that in the conference title the applications aspect is mentioned explicitly, the theoretical and the practical points of view in the field are well balanced in the program of DEXA 93 The growing importance of the conference series is outlined by the remarkably high number of 269 submissions and by the support given by renowned organizations DEXA 93 is held for the first time outside the former GDR in an East European country and is essentially contributing to the advancement of the East West scientific cooperation in the field of database and AI systems This proceedings contains the 78 contributed papers carefully selected by an international program committee with the support of a high number of subreferees The volume is organized in sections on data models distributed databases advanced database aspects database optimization and performance evaluation spatial and geographic databases expert systems and knowledge engineering legal systems other database and artificial intelligence applications software engineering and hypertext hypermedia and user interfaces

Textile Technology Digest, 1991-07 Human-Computer Interaction - INTERACT '87 H.-J. Bullinger, B. Shackel, 2014-05-21

Since the first INTERACT Conference in September 1984 the field of Human Computer Interaction has received increasing attention from researchers and industrial practitioners the importance of the topic now being widely recognized Technological developments have made it possible to seek new solutions to the problem of supporting work processes by information technology and for designing the interface between user and the machine Computers have become an everyday and common tool in the work of many people This has motivated the development of an interdisciplinary field of research which now appears much more established than it was a few years ago The INTERACT forums provide the opportunity for regular presentation and discussion of new results from research and application by bringing together the various disciplines and research approaches on a worldwide basis

Jean-Pierre Doucet, Jacques Weber, 1996-03-05

The computer aided design of novel molecular systems has undoubtedly reached the stage of a mature discipline offering a broad range of tools available to virtually any chemist However there are few books covering most of these techniques in a single volume and using a language which may generally be understood by students or chemists with a limited knowledge of theoretical chemistry The purpose of this book is precisely to review in such a language both methodological aspects and important applications of computer aided molecular design CAMD with a special emphasis on drug design and protein modeling Using numerous examples ranging from molecular models to shapes surfaces and volumes Computer Aided Molecular Design provides coverage of the role molecular graphics play in CAMD The text also treats the very notion of the structure of molecular systems by presenting both the various experimental techniques giving access to it and the most common model builders based on force fields Separate chapters are devoted to other important topics in CAMD such as Monte Carlo and molecular dynamics simulations most common quantum chemical methods derivation and visualization of molecular properties and molecular similarity Finally strategies used in protein modeling and drug design such as receptor mapping and the pharmacophore approach are presented and illustrated by several examples The book is addressed to students and researchers who wish to enter this new exciting field of molecular sciences but also practitioners in CAMD as a comprehensive source of refreshing information in their field Key Features Presents a comprehensive introduction to computer aided molecular design Describes applications of CAMD through the use of numerous examples Emphasizes strategies used in protein modeling and drug design Includes separate chapters devoted to other important topics in CAMD such as Monte Carlo and molecular dynamics simulations Common quantum chemical methods Derivation and visualization of molecular properties Molecular similarity Proceedings of the 1997 International Database Engineering & Applications Symposium Bipin C.
