Performing Africa Paulla A. Ebron, 2009-04-11 The jali a member of a hereditary group of Mandinka professional performers is a charismatic but contradictory figure He is at once the repository of his people's history the voice of contemporary political authority the inspiration for African American dreams of an African homeland and the chief entertainment for the burgeoning transnational tourist industry Numerous journalists scholars politicians and culture aficionados have tried to pin him down This book shows how the jali's talents at performance make him a genius at representation the ideal figure to tell us about the Africa that the world imagines which is always a thing of illusion magic and contradiction Africa often enters the global imagination through news accounts of ethnic war famine and despotic political regimes Those interested in countering such dystopic images be they cultural nationalists in the African diaspora or connoisseurs of global culture often found their representations of an emancipatory Africa on an enthusiasm for West African popular culture and performance arts Based on extensive field research in The Gambia and focusing on the figure of the jali Performing Africa interrogates these representations together with their cultural and political implications It explores how Africa is produced circulated and consumed through performance and how encounters through performance create the place of Africa in the world Innovative and discerning Performing Africa is a provocative contribution to debates over cultural nationalism and the construction of identity and history in Africa and elsewhere

Two Sides of One River António Medeiros, 2013 Galicia the region in the northwest corner of Spain contiguous with Portugal is officially known as the Autonomous Community of Galicia It is recognized as one of the historical nationalities making up the Spanish state as legitimized by the Spanish Constitution of 1978 Although Galicia and Portugal belong to different states there are frequent allusions to their similarities This study compares topographic and ethnographic descriptions of Galicia and Portugal from the nineteenth and twentieth centuries to understand how the integration into different states and the existence of nationalist discourses resulted in marked differences in the historical representations of these two bordering regions of the Iberian Peninsula The author explores the role of the imagination in creating a sense over the last century and a half of the national being and becoming of these two related peoples
