input of nurses and midwives as part of an interprofessional team of key strategists for facilitating global health The Lancet report is also an important document used throughout the text and an interview with Dr Julio Frenk author of that report is included Social political cultural economic and environmental factors including climate change are integrated into determinants of global health The text covers the foundations of global health including the emerging concept of climate justice the ethical context of global health and the importance of interprofessional education It addresses key issues of global health with a focus on poor and vulnerable individuals particularly women and children and those living in areas of conflict In addition to describing notable accomplishments toward achieving global health the book focuses on the need for increasing access to primary care improving clinical practice through expanded education and engaging interdisciplinary researchers in discovery of viable solutions The book includes the perspectives of nurses and colleagues from other disciplines in both resource rich and resource limited countries References provide resources for additional study and PowerPoint slides and a test bank for instructors accompany the text KEY FEATURES Case studies depict real world experiences Presents firsthand knowledge of global health dynamics challenges and opportunities Provides a wealth of information from multiple perspectives Authored by contributors across a variety of clinical and academic roles who are experienced in global health nursing and global health Includes chapters written by nurses from both resource limited and resource rich countries

Mathematics for Health Professionals Ida Marie Martinson, G. R. Kepner, 1977 Extended Curriculum Programmes Tennyson Mgtshini, 2022-04-30 The introduction of ECPs in South African Universities is seen by many as South Africa's key strategy for addressing the problem of poor patterns of student success and has its basis on the uncontested acceptance that an extended study duration may be necessary to bring some categories of learners to a level of parity with the readiness expectations of their course of study Even so this transformative strategic imperative has been plagued by a range of challenges that include poor systems readiness poor selection mechanisms in the identification of ECP students poor numeracy and literacy amongst students and indifferent teacher involvement in ECPs This volume offers a rare insight into many of the above recognised challenges and in so doing provides critical matter for thought for educators within the higher education sector Positive Living with HIV/AIDS, An Issue of Nursing Clinics Ken Phillips, 2018-02-09 Dr Phillips has assembled well published authors on optimizing patient outcomes in those living with HIV and AIDS The clinical reviews in this issue will provide nurses with the current clinical information they need to incorporate best practices into their patient care and management Articles are devoted to the following topics Exercise and Positive Living in HIV AIDS Managing Other Chronic Illnesses in PLWHA Nutritional Issues and Positive Living in HIV AIDS Spiritual Dimensions Resilience Positive Thinking in HIV AIDS Health Promotion in HIV AIDS Mental Health in HIV AIDS Promoting Cardiovascular Health in PLWHA Pharmacological Considerations in HIV AIDS and Sleep Disturbances Associated with HIV AIDS International Partnerships for Strengthening Health Care Workforce Capacity: Models of Collaborative

Education Jeanne Mahoney Leffers, Jennifer Gail Audette, Kevin S. Hardwick, William Van Cleve, 2018-07-31 A critical problem in resource scarce countries across the globe is the shortage of appropriately trained health care providers. According to the World Health Organization the current global health workforce shortage of 7.2 million providers is estimated to increase to 12.9 million by 2035. This disproportionately affects resource scarce countries denying basic health care to millions and limiting access to life saving treatments. Due to limited resources in these countries not enough health professionals receive training few have the opportunity for continuing education and the ability to develop or implement educational programs and curricula is constrained. Additionally many existing providers choose to emigrate in pursuit of professional advancement opportunities contributing to the overall shortage of qualified health care providers in these environments. Efforts to strengthen health workforce capacity not only increases access safety and availability of care but is critical to building resilient health systems capable of caring for the world's neediest populations. This requires not only cultivating new health care providers but also providing ongoing professional development to retain and support current providers advancing the level of practice in accordance with current clinical science cultivating educators and enhancing training curricula. It is critical also to contribute to the limited body of research documenting the effectiveness and impact of various models of collaborative education and partnership to improve health worker training and retention. This Research Topic examines strategies for building health workforce capacity through the prism of educational partnerships offering significant examples of effective models of international collaborative education as well as insight and guidance on the structure and operation of successful global partnerships. Collectively the 31 articles accepted and included in this eBook represent a diversity of health professions and geographies across academic non governmental organizations and other global partnership forms. The published manuscripts highlight various elements of partnerships with several consistent themes emerging capacity building local empowerment mutual trust and respect long term commitment equity collaboration and the importance of integrating theory and practice for a balance of academic and clinical development. The manuscripts provide examples of partnership and educational programs that are in the formative early stages of implementation and others which have been sustained long term some for decades. The following eBook is divided into two parts with each part broken down into sections. Part I of the eBook includes 18 manuscripts that showcase long term educational programs that strongly exemplify multiple foundational aspects of international partnerships in education including mutual collaboration and project management empowerment of host partners to lead and sustain programs and capacity building. While individual manuscripts included in Part I look broadly at multiple aspects of successful international partnerships in education Part II manuscripts focus intently on one or two elements. Part II includes 13 articles that highlight partnership through short rather than long term educational initiatives as well as program development and broad academic partnerships. This Research Topic was sponsored by Health Volunteers Overseas a United States based non profit that collaborates with over eighty international universities and health institutions to send volunteer health professionals to low resource countries to provide continuing education train the trainer courses professional support and consultation on academic program and curricula development
