SLES - Sodium lauryl sulfate, an accepted combination of sodium lauryl ether sulfate (SLES), also called sodium alkyl ether sulfate, is an anionic detergent and surfactant found in many personal care products (soaps, shampoos, toothpaste, etc.) and for industrial uses.

CDEA or Coco Diethanolamide, is a natural surfactant as extracted from coconut oil. It is ideal for use in soap, shampoo, and detergent formulations as a foam booster and foam stabilizer. It also exhibits high electrolyte tolerance and therefore improves the performance of many surfactants in hard water.

Benzalkonium chloride, also known as alkyltrimethylammonium chloride and by the trade name Zephiran, is a type of cationic surfactant. It is an organic salt classified as a quaternary ammonium compound.

Industrial Salt - The primary function of industrial salt in liquid soap is to work as a preservative. The soap does not require a preservative if you use it within about two weeks, but the salt will help the soap last much longer.

Glycerin - In skincare, glycerin's most popular use is as a humectant. Humectants are moisturizing ingredients that work by drawing water from the atmosphere to hydrate and soften the skin.

Citric acid is used as an excipient in pharmaceutical preparations due to its antioxidant properties. It maintains stability of active ingredients and is used as a preservative.

PROCEDURE:

1. Work in a ventilated space or outdoors.
2. Keep away from children.
3. Wear PPEs such as laundry gloves, safety eye glasses and mask.
4. Put SLES in a clean container, make sure to scrape all remaining gel.
5. Add half of Thickener/Industrial Salt.
6. Start mixing until it becomes creamy white. You will know that you have reached the peak of its mix when the rough feeling of thickener in the mixture is gone.
7. Add water gradually, pour 1l per batch.
8. Mix well before adding the next batch of water, mix until it becomes creamy again.
9. Add the next batch of water and repeat the process until all the water has been added.
10. Add colant, you may add it all or half only.
11. Add Scent, depending on your preference.
12. Add Antibacterial, mix well.
13. Add Moisturizer, mix well.
14. Add Preservative, mix well.
15. Add CDEA (Foam Booster), mix well.
16. Add Preservative, mix well.
17. Add remaining Thickener/Industrial Salt.
18. Mix well until shiny.
19. Cover it. Let it cure for 24 hours.
20. After 24 hours of curing, prepare the empty bottles.
21. Use funnel to transfer it to empty bottles.
22. Cap it off and put label stickers.

Soap Production Manual:

Soap-making Manual Edgar George Thomssen, 1922      The Handbook of Soap Manufacture H. A. Appleton, W. H. Simmons, 2016-08-26 In the general advance of technical knowledge and research during the last decade the Soap Industry has not remained stationary While there has not perhaps been anything of a very revolutionary character steady progress has still been made in practically all branches and the aim of the present work is to describe the manufacture of Household and Toilet Soaps as carried out to day in an up to date and well equipped factory In the more scientific portions of the book an acquaintance with the principles of elementary chemistry is assumed and in this we feel justified as in these days of strenuous competition no soap maker can hope to compete successfully with his rivals unless he has a sound theoretical as well as practical knowledge of the nature of the raw materials he uses and the reactions taking place in the pan or at other stages of the manufacture We also venture to hope that the work may prove useful to Works Chemists and other Analysts consulted in connection with this Industry At the same time in the greater part of the book no chemical knowledge is necessary the subject being treated in such a way that it is hoped those who are not directly engaged in the manufacture of soap but who desire a general idea of the subject will find it of value In the sections dealing with the composition and analysis of materials temperatures are expressed in degrees Centigrade these being now almost invariably used in scientific work In the rest of the book however they are given in degrees Fahrenheit the degrees Centigrade being also added in brackets as in the majority of factories these are still used As regards strengths of solution in some factories the use of Baum degrees is preferred whilst in others Twaddell degrees are the custom and we have therefore given the two figures in all cases      Soap-making Manual Thomssen E.
