seminal resource for students and scholars Living Recovery JoAnn Elizabeth Leavey, 2015-02-26 Living Recovery provides critical information for practitioners and educators in mental health services about the self-described needs of young people diagnosed with mental illness. It portrays the stages of living with mental illness through the recovery model: ELAR: emergence, loss, adaptation, and recovery. The author interviewed youth aged sixteen to twenty-seven in Canada, Australia, and the US, and her book relates the price of the stigma surrounding mental illness, especially for young people who are already challenged with the developmental tasks of adolescence. The text examines the youth-described social illness of stigma and the resulting self-marginalization they say is necessary to survive stigma and social isolation. When youth feel isolated, ignored, or shunned, the resulting shame and stress they may feel has the potential to exacerbate such illnesses as obsessive compulsive disorder, psychosis, anxiety, and/or various mood disorders. The findings from this research anticipate and identify interventions that are useful for youth with mental illness. If programs and systems of care take into account youth stories such as those presented here, interventions will become more meaningful and more likely to address problems related to social and emotional distresses. In charting journeys through the emergence of illness to loss, adaptation, and recovery, the book reports on how mental illness disrupted these youths' lives on every level, especially in the transition from late adolescence to young adulthood. But youth also describe ways in which they adapted and recovered and how they came to own the illness with a greater sense of agency and self-direction.

Handbook of Social Psychology Lisa Slater Walker, Gretchen Peterson, 2025-06-09 This thought-provoking Handbook presents an overview of social psychology as a sub-discipline of sociology and psychology. Cultural Conceptualizations in Language and Communication Barbara Lewandowska-Tomaszczyk, 2020-06-10 The book comprises a selection of papers concerning the general theme of cultural conceptualizations in language. The focus of Part 1, which includes four papers, is on Metaphor and Culture, discussing general as well as language-specific metaphoricity. Part 2, which also includes three papers, is on Cultural Models dealing with phenomena relating to family and home, nation and kinship, blood and death in different cultures. Six papers in Part 3, which refers to questions of Identity and Cultural Stereotypes, both in general language and in literature, discuss identity in native and migration contexts and take up motifs of journey and migration as well as social and cultural stereotypes and prejudice in transforming contexts. Three papers in the last Part 4 of the book, Linguistic Concepts, Meanings, and Interaction, focus on the semantic interpretation of the changes and differences which occur in their intra- as well as inter-linguistic contexts.

The Social Psychology of Clothing Susan B. Kaiser, 1997 A single glance at our clothing reveals a wealth of information about how we perceive ourselves, each other, and our place in society. The 21st Century Media (r)evolution Jim Macnamara,2010
The emergence of new media and social media is widely discussed in contemporary society However media and public communication are mostly analyzed within particular theoretical frameworks and within specific disciplinary fields Such approaches have created polarized views on media and communication and fail to create an understanding of the interdependencies between these fields This book expertly synthesizes competing theories and disciplinary viewpoints integrates scholarly and cutting edge research and examines international data from fast growing markets including China to provide a comprehensive holistic view of the twenty first century r evolution in media and public communication The book identifies how the changes are located in practices rather than technologies and that these practices are emergent in highly significant ways Engaging and accessible the book is essential reading for media scholars and communication professionals and a valuable text for courses in media studies journalism advertising public relations and organisational and political communication

Looking for Ashley: Re-reading What the Smith Case Reveals about the Governance of Girls, Mothers and Families in Canada Jaremko Rebecca Bromwich,2015-10-01
The 2007 death by self induced strangulation in prison of nineteen year old inmate Ashley Smith drew a great deal of public attention The case gave rise to a shocking verdict of homicide in the 2013 inquest into the cause of her death In this book I inquire into questions about of what social problem or phenomenon Ashley Smith is a case and what governmental work is done by prevalent constructions of her as an exemplar This book performs a critical discourse analysis of figures of Ashley Smith that emerge in her case looking at those representations as technologies of governance It argues that the Smith case is read most accurately not as an isolated system failure but an extreme result of routine everyday brutality of a society and bureaucracies gradual necropolitical successes It critically analyzes how representations of Ashley in the case leave intact and even reinforce logics and systems governing gender motherhood security risk race thinking and exclusion in power and knowledge that make it predictable for similar deaths in prison to recur It argues that in the logics underlying constructions through which Ashley Smith was celebrityized and sacralized mothers girls and women s subjectivities and agencies are made unknowable and even unthinkable while the racialized social boundaries of a white settler society are maintained This book attempts to intervene in those logics to help make alternative outcomes possible and to take steps towards questioning the raced classed and heteronormative boundaries of commonly assumed figures of the noble victim good girl and good mother while supporting the agencies of adolescent girls in actively playing a part in the authoring of their lives
