Sociologie de l'opinion publique Théophile Bagur, Cyril Jayet, Hugo Touzet, 2020-06-17 Islamophobia in France Abdellali Hajjat, Marwan Mohammed, 2023-01-15 In 2004 France banned Muslim women from wearing veils in school In 2010 France passed legislation that banned the wearing of clothing in public that covered the face mainly to target women who wore burqas President Emmanuel Macron has stated that the hijab is not in accordance with French ideals Islamophobia in France takes many forms both explicit and implicit and often appears to be sanctioned by the governing bodies themselves These cultural biases reveal how the Muslim population acts as a scapegoat for the problematic status of immigrants in France more generally Islamophobia in France is an English translation of Abdellali Hajjat and Marwan Mohammed's Islamophobie Comment les élites françaises fabriquent le problème musulman In this groundbreaking book Hajjat and Mohammed argue that Islamophobia in France is not the result of individual prejudice or supposed Muslim cultural or racial deficiencies but rather arose out of structures of power and control already in place in France Hajjat and Mohammed analyze how French elites deploy Islamophobia as a state technology for contesting and controlling the presence of specific groups of postcolonial immigrants and their descendants in contemporary France With a new introduction for U S readers the authors unpack the data on Islamophobia in France and offer a portrait of how it functions in contemporary society

The Public Opinion Process Irving Crespi, 2013-11-05 What is public opinion How can we best study it This work presents a process model that answers these questions by defining public opinion in a way that also identifies an approach to studying it The model serves as a framework into which the findings of empirical research are integrated producing a comprehensive understanding of public opinion that encompasses the congeries of middle range theories that have emerged from empirical research The three dimensional process model and the way it is explicated satisfies the diverse and sometimes divergent needs and interests of political scientists sociologists social psychologists and communication specialists who study public opinion This is achieved by clearly differentiating and interrelating the following individual opinions the judgmental outcomes of a process in which attitudinal systems comprised of beliefs values interests and feelings function as intervening variables that direct and structure perceptions of public issues collective opinions the outcomes of communication from which mutual awareness emerges and that integrate separate individual opinions into a significant social force and political roles of collective and individual opinions the outcomes of the extent to which collective and individual opinions have achieved legitimacy as the basis for governing a people

DON'T USE THIS PARAGRAPH FOR GENERAL CATALOGS Each dimension of the model has its corresponding subprocess transactions between individuals and their environments communications among individuals and collectives and political legitimation of public opinion Since the process model is by definition interactional none of the three dimensions has theoretical or sequential priority over the others Instead of treating the psychological political and sociological aspects of public opinion as separate stages of an unidirectional process the three aspects are modeled as dimensions of a complex ongoing system in continuous interaction with each other This conceptualization satisfies the need for a truly interdisciplinary theory in that it demands that each dimension be studied in terms of its defining subprocess It also avoids the twin errors of reductionism and reification in the study of public opinion
