Dandaneau, 2001-01-24 For use as a primary or supplemental text for Introductory Sociology Social Theory and senior capstone courses An unabashedly critical text for those who want to connect their students personal experiences with what is happening at the societal global level today The emphasis is on teaching the sociological imagination i e to instill in students a unique and radical form of consciousness that will allow them to conceptualize today s chief global and individual problems and the relations between them Dandaneau adopts a perspective like that of C Wright Mills and argues that the sociological imagination is the most needed type of consciousness in the world today The author encourages students to think through a wide variety of topics from ecological crises to panic disorder from hyperreality to the sociology of disability from Generation X to Generation Next As Dandaneau says The point is not so much to learn the truth but to learn how to think about essential issues and troubles as sociologists themselves try to do to become a participant with others in facing down the challenges of our present epoch It is an elegant and profound meditation on thinking sociologically Written with a rare panache one seldom finds in sociology it s the product of a view of contemporary social life that is profoundly troubling What this adds up to is a distinctive sociological and moral voice Peter Kivisto

Local Crafts Frederick F. Wherry, 2008-02-25 Today it is not uncommon to find items in department stores that are hand crafted in countries like Thailand and Costa Rica These traditional crafts now make up an important part of a global market They support local and sometimes national economies and help create and solidify cultural identity But these crafts are not necessarily indigenous Whereas Thailand markets crafts with a long history and cultural legacy Costa Rica has created a local handicraft tradition where none was known to exist previously In Global Markets and Local Crafts Frederick F Wherry compares the handicraft industries of Thailand and Costa Rica to show how local cultural industries break into global markets and conversely how global markets affect the ways in which artisans understand adapt and utilize their cultural traditions Wherry develops a new framework for studying globalization by considering the phenomenon from the perspective of the supplier instead of the market Drawing from interviews and extensive fieldwork shadowing artisans and exporters in their daily dealings Wherry offers a rare account of globalization in motion and what happens when market negotiations do not proceed as planned Considering economic and political forces flows of people and materials and frames that define cultural and market situations as they play out in the artisan communities of these two countries Wherry uncovers how authentic folk tradition is capitalized or created
