Introduction To Geographical Information Systems Prithvish Nag And Smita Sengupta,Prithvish Nag,2008 In Indian context ACSM Bulletin ,2005 Environmental Geoinformatics Joseph Awange,John Kiema,2018-12-08 This second edition includes updated chapters from the first edition as well as five additional new chapters Light detection and ranging LiDAR CORONA historical de classified products Unmanned Aircraft Vehicles UAVs GNSS reflectometry and GNSS applications to climate variability shifting the main focus from monitoring and management to extreme hydro climatic and food security challenges and exploiting big data Since the publication of first edition much has changed in terms of technology and the demand for geospatial data has increased with the advent of the big data era For instance the use of laser scanning has advanced so much that it is unavoidable in most environmental monitoring tasks whereas unmanned aircraft vehicles UAVs drones are emerging as efficient tools that address food security issues as well as many other contemporary challenges Furthermore global navigation satellite systems GNSS are now responding to challenges posed by climate change by unravelling the impacts of teleconnection e g ENSO as well as advancing the use of reflected signals GNSS reflectometry to monitor e g soil moisture variations Indeed all these rely on the explosive use of big data in many fields of human endeavour Moreover with the ever increasing global population intense pressure is being exerted on the Earth s resources leading to significant changes in its land cover e g deforestation diminishing biodiversity and natural habitats dwindling fresh water supplies and changing weather and climatic patterns e g global warming changing sea level Environmental monitoring techniques that provide information on these are under scrutiny from an increasingly environmentally conscious society that demands the efficient delivery of such information at a minimal cost Environmental changes vary both spatially and temporally thereby putting pressure on traditional methods of data acquisition some of which are highly labour intensive such as animal tracking for conservation purposes With these challenges conventional monitoring techniques particularly those that record spatial changes call for more sophisticated approaches that deliver the necessary information at an affordable cost One direction being pursued in the development of such techniques involves environmental geoinformatics which can act as a stand alone method or complement traditional methods
