Exercises

- Exercise 1: One-to-One Correspondence and Cardinality

- Have them arrange their objects in different ways, such as in a line, in a circle, in a pile, or in groups. Ask them to count their objects again and write the number on another piece of paper. Have them compare the two numbers and explain if they are the same or different.
- Have them trade their objects with a partner and repeat the process. Ask them to compare their numbers with their partner's and explain if they are the same or different.
