Unyoking African University Knowledge, 2023-04-12 The discourse of decolonisation though littered with unresolved contestation in the university as an institution of higher learning has often been blamed on the impact of neoliberal globalisation philosophy The volume focuses on unfinished project of decolonisation with an aim on African knowledge and the historical question of canonicity by keeping the emancipative dialogue alive The authors place great scrutiny on the quality of curriculum offered in universities arguing that a sound relevant curriculum original to the continent can save Africa's citizenry from challenges bedevilling socio economic development This book proposes a disruption and potential end to western hegemonic epistemologies that manifest the neoliberal geopolitical terrain in the form of cultural imperialism epistemicide and linguicide through a decolonial approach to the curriculum in African universities It interrogates and challenges the neo colonial entanglement in regional higher education policy processes coupled with the excessive dependence of regional stakeholders on western external actors for higher education policy and envisages a decolonial alternative future for the regionalisation of higher education in Africa To this end the book brings in a more philosophical and practical hermeneutic of knowledge production and dissemination that unyokes post independence African universities from the bondage of erstwhile colonisers

Mediating Learning in Higher Education in Africa, 2021-05-25 Historically African higher education teaching and learning have relied on Western models paradigms assumptions concepts and procedures among other research related aspects Western hegemony and ideology has influenced and continues to influence the epistemologies and both the methods and outcome of higher education research The connection between teaching and learning is that teaching generates new forms of learning and learning challenges methods of teaching Western claims to universality objectivity and neutrality have dominated research paradigms in African higher education institutions to the detriment of alternative approaches and conceptions of knowledge Methods aligned to African teaching and learning are often unrecognised and thus underutilised despite calls for the mantra for decolonial research methods What are the African indigenous ways of teaching and learning How are they related to the present African university These puzzling questions provoke the minds of scholars on Africa to confront the discourse on decolonisation of higher education as they engage head on and interrogate contemporary teaching and learning methods Mediating Learning in Higher Education in Africa From Critical Thinking to Social Justice Pedagogies provides critical reflections to some of the above questions that affect African Higher Education as it seeks to transform itself and provide directions for the future
