Hunters in the Snow D. M. Thomas, 2014 Vienna in the early 20th century was in the words of our protagonist and narrator a soulless syphilitic whore of a city a turbulent and bubbling melting pot of races creeds and politics rapidly expanding as it strained to contain the ever increasing multitudes In such places the nightmare moments of modern history are conceived This novel is a fictionalised account of those who were to change the very collective psyche of mankind It is a vivid and poignant portrayal of the sometimes thin dividing line between becoming good or evil D M Thomas is a British novelist and poet born and living in Cornwall His novel The White Hotel was an international bestseller and shortlisted for the Booker Prize It is rightly considered a modern classic John Updike said of the book Astonishing A forthright sensuality mixed with a fine historical feeling for the nightmare moments in modern history a dreamlike fluidity and quickness the statement could equally be applied to Hunters in the Snow
