Children of the Dream Rucker C. Johnson,2019-04-16 An acclaimed economist reveals that school integration efforts in the 1970s and 1980s were overwhelmingly successful and argues that we must renew our commitment to integration for the sake of all Americans We are frequently told that school integration was a social experiment doomed from the start But as Rucker C Johnson demonstrates in Children of the Dream it was in fact a spectacular achievement Drawing on longitudinal studies going back to the 1960s he shows that students who attended integrated and well funded schools were more successful in life than those who did not and this held true for children of all races Yet as a society we have given up on integration Since the high point of integration in 1988 we have regressed and segregation again prevails Contending that integrated well funded schools are the primary engine of social mobility Children of the Dream offers a radical new take on social policy It is essential reading in our divided times

Teachers in the Movies Ann C. Paietta,2014-11-18 The teaching profession has a long history in motion pictures As early as the late 19th century films have portrayed educators of young children including teachers tutors day care workers nannies governesses and other related occupations in a variety of roles within the cinematic classroom This work provides a broad index of more than 800 films both U S and foreign which feature educators as primary characters Organized alphabetically by title each entry contains a short plot summary and many also include cast and crew details A detailed subject index is also included

An Age of Accountability John L. Rury,2023-10-13 An Age of Accountability highlights the role of test based accountability as a policy framework in American education from 1970 to 2020 For more than half a century the quest to hold schools and educators accountable for academic achievement has relied almost exclusively on standardized assessment The theory of change embedded in almost all test based accountability programs held that assessment with stipulated consequences could lead to major improvements in schools This was accomplished politically by proclaiming lofty goals of attaining universal proficiency and closing achievement gaps which repeatedly failed to materialize But even after very clear disappointments no other policy framework has emerged to challenge its hegemony The American public today has little confidence in institutions to improve the quality of goods and services they provide especially in the public sector As a consequence many Americans continue to believe that accountability remains a vital necessity even if educators and policy scholars disagree

Balogun, 2023-09-20 This book assesses the challenges within the Nigerian educational system and provides a concrete plan to revitalize the low performing system by strengthening high stakes testing at all levels In Nigeria many citizens believe that the solution to the country s low performance in education is to eliminate high stakes standardized testing High stakes testing refers to applying standardized student achievement tests as a primary mechanism to evaluate students teachers and their school s performance This book argues that the poor quality of education and low ranking of Nigeria s educational system is not related to the negative consequences of high stakes testing but rather is due to many intrinsic factors By conducting a comparative analysis of six high performing education systems worldwide the book offers a comparative summative evaluation of the educational system and offers recommendations This book will be of interest to policymakers and scholars in the fields of African education higher education quality and global studies African studies management and administration leadership and professional development studies Joseph Abiodun Balogun is former Dean and retired Distinguished University Professor at the College of Health Sciences Chicago State University USA Visiting Professor Program Consultant at the Centre of Excellence in Reproductive Health Innovation University of Benin Nigeria and President CEO Joseph Rehabilitation Center Tinley Park Illinois USA
