

The background of the book cover is a photograph of a city street. On the left, there is a multi-story building with classical architectural features like arched windows and balconies. The street is paved with cobblestones and has white dashed lines. A large, thick cloud of white smoke or tear gas is rising from the street, partially obscuring the building and the sky. The overall tone is somewhat somber and suggests a scene of civil unrest or protest.

Youth and Politics in Times of Increasing Inequalities Marco Giugni, Maria Grasso, 2021-07-22 Young people are very often the driving forces of political participation that aims to change societies and political systems Rather than being depoliticized young people in different national contexts are giving rise to alternative politics Drawing on original survey data collected in 2018 this edited volume provides a detailed analysis of youth participation in nine European countries by focusing on socialization processes different modes of participation and the mobilization of youth politics This volume is an indispensable guide to understanding young Europeans experience and engagement of politics the inequalities that shape young people's political engagement and are sometimes replicated through them and young people's commitment to saving the environment and spreading democratic ideals. Based on compelling and extensive research across nine nations, this volume makes important advances in key debates on youth politics and provides critical empirical insights into which young people engage, influences on young people's politics, how young people engage, why some young people don't engage, and trends across nations. The volume succeeds in the herculean task of focusing on specific national contexts while also rendering a comprehensive picture of youth politics and inequality in Europe today.

Jennifer Earl, Professor of Sociology, University of Arizona, USA: Forecasts by social scientists of young people's increasingly apathetic stance towards political participation appear to have been misplaced. This text, drawing data and analysis across and between nine European countries, captures the changing nature of political activism by young people. It indicates how this is strongly nuanced by factors such as social class and gender identity. It also highlights important distinctions between young people's approaches towards more traditional electoral and more contemporary non-institutional forms of participation. Critically, it illuminates the many ways in which youth political participation has evolved and transformed in recent years. Wider social circumstances and experiences are identified as highly significant in preparing young people for and influencing their levels of participation in both protest-oriented action and electoral politics.

Howard Williamson, Professor of European Youth Policy, University of South Wales, UK: This book is an incredible guide to understanding the role and sources of inequalities on young people's political involvement. Country-specific chapters allow the authors to integrate a large number of the key and most pressing issues regarding young people's relationship to politics in a single volume. Topics range from social mobility and the influence of socioeconomic parental resources and class on young people's practice in the social sphere, the intersection of gender with other sources of inequalities, online participation and its relationship with social inequalities, the impact of harsh economic conditions, the mobilization potential of the environmental cause, to the role of political organizations. Integrating all these pressing dimensions in a common framework and accompanying it with extensive novel empirical evidence is a great achievement, and the result is a must-read piece for researchers and practitioners aiming to understand the challenges young people face in developing their relationship to politics.

The Politics of Economic Activity confronts head-on deeply rooted understandings of how politics affects economics. The book proposes a robust, incisive alternative definition of politics: the mobilization of values to change or reproduce the institutions that orientate and indeed make possible economic activity. Drawing upon constructivist strands of institutionalism, political sociology, and industrial economics, this definition generates an analytical framework for understanding the political work that constantly orientates the behaviour of both firms and public authorities. Specifically, a fundamental tension between the values of freedom and security is consistently examined. This is analysed by looking at conflicts within the definition of these two values but also by examination of mobilizations of two subordinate values equality and tradition A hypothesis examined throughout the book's empirical chapters is that equality and tradition play either supporting intervening or silent roles within the freedom security relationship that structures contemporary capitalism Structured around controversies concerning the politics of economic activity at the global European national and local scales the book examines the pharmaceutical wine local food and car industries as well as cross cutting policies concerning issues such as regulating labour markets and inter firm competition geographical indications and local economic development Overall the book's aim is to advocate a mode of thinking and research which challenges orthodox and dominant approaches to economics and its politics It does so by placing a politics that is comprehensible and therefore both studyable and actionable back at the centre of reflection about the economic and the political

Introduction à la communication politique Philippe Aldrin, Nicolas Hubé, 2017-09-11 Dans la conquête comme dans l'exercice du pouvoir la communication occupe aujourd'hui une place cruciale Chaînes d'information continue réseaux sociaux cotes de popularité emballements médiatiques et stratégies d'influence des groupes de pression sont le nouvel horizon de l'activité politique. Si l'éloquence et le maniement ritualisé des symboles y sont toujours de mise, bien communiquer est devenu un impératif absolu dans les sociétés de l'information voire de la surinformation. Ce manuel expose tout d'abord le mouvement historique au terme duquel l'espace public, les médias de masse et la mesure de l'opinion sont devenus un enjeu central du jeu politique. En s'attachant les remettre en contexte, il présente ensuite les évolutions d'une science de la communication politique née au croisement de la recherche universitaire, de la publicité des affaires politiques et de l'économie des médias. Enfin, il propose de suivre l'invention puis la consécration de nouveaux métiers. Des spin doctors aux community managers dans la division du travail politique. Ponctué de définitions claires et d'exemples nombreux, cet ouvrage l'approche inédite donne toutes les clés pour comprendre les formes historiques et immédiatement contemporaines de la communication politique.

The Long March of the French Left R.W. Johnson, 1981-03-19. Radical Thought among the Young: A Survey of French Lycée Students, 2020-08-25. France experienced an unprecedented wave of terrorist attacks in 2015. Following these tragic events, social science researchers felt the need to undertake new work to better understand the dynamics of this new radicalism. This book is the result of one of these attempts. A large quantitative and qualitative survey was conducted among French Lycée students in order to gather substantive information and propose an interpretation of the penetration of radical ideas, be they religious or political, among them. How widespread are these radical ideas? What are the main characteristics of youngsters who share them? Are there links between religious radicalism and political radicalism? How do young people feel about the 2015 terrorist attacks? How do young people use media and social media to keep abreast of and understand radical acts and opinions? Those are the main questions explored in this book. Contributors are Vincenzo Cicchelli, Alexandra Frénot, Olivier Galland, Laurent Lardeux, Anne Muxel, Jean-François Mignot, and Sylvie Octobre.
