Sociologie Des Mondes Agricoles:

Sociologie des mondes agricoles Bertrand Hervieu, François Purseigle, 2013-01-23 Pendant soixante ans les sociologues ont observé le déclin des paysans et annoncé parfois leur disparition. De leur côté les démographes constatent aujourd'hui que les producteurs agricoles n'ont jamais été aussi nombreux. La surface d'une plante dominante urbaine. Cette contradiction constitue une question majeure pour les sciences sociales des mondes ruraux. Dans cette perspective les auteurs proposent une relecture des classiques. Comment s'est structuré le débat entre ceux qui annoncent la fin des paysans et ceux qui pronostiquent leur maintien dans un état transformé ou prolifère. L'ouvrage revient sur les grands bouleversements qui ont affecté les campagnes françaises et le métier d'agriculteur. Il analyse la place singulière et paradoxale occupée dans la société française par les agriculteurs minoritaires mais segmentés dispersés mais pourtant bien repérables comme force sociale et politique. Il propose enfin d'appréhender la recomposition des paysanneries dans la globalisation autour de trois piliers : la famille, la ferme et la subsistance. Pourquoi faut-il repenser le monde agricole ? Parce que les agriculteurs apparaissent encore comme un groupe social facilement repérable dans la société française et parce que cette population porte à travers ses activités de nombreux enjeux économiques, environnementaux, alimentaires. Il faut repenser le monde agricole à l'aune de la réorganisation des formes productives de la réorganisation des formes d'agriculture. Un monde à repenser. Ecology, Capitalism and the New Agricultural Economy Gilles Allaire, Benoît Daviron, 2018-11-14 With increasing pressure on resources the looming spectre of climate change and growing anxiety among eaters ecology and food are at the heart of the political debates surrounding agriculture and diet. This unique contribution unravels agro-environmental issues at different spatial levels from local to global documenting the major shifts in agriculture from a long term perspective. The book begins by exploring the changes in the industrialisation and socialisation of agriculture over time through the lens of institutional economics including The French Regulation School and Conventions Theory. Building on Polanyi's Great Transformation the chapters in this volume analyse long term and contemporary changes in agriculture and food systems that have occurred throughout the last few centuries. Key chapters focus on the historical changes in provisioning and the social relations of production, consumption and regulation of food in different socio-political contexts. The future of agriculture is addressed through an analysis of controversial contemporary political claims and their engagement with strategies that aim to improve the sustainability of agriculture and food consumption. To shed light on ongoing changes and the future of food this book asks important environmental and social questions and analyses how industrial agriculture has played out in various contexts. It is recommended supplementary reading for postgraduates and researchers in agricultural studies, food studies, food policy, the agro-food political economy and political and economic geography.

Energy Geographies: Negotiating the French-German Interface Teva Meyer, Florian Weber, 2024-10-23 The articles collected in this anthology address highly relevant issues of energy transition from both French and German perspectives The question of energy production beyond fossil fuels entails lines of investigation ranging from attitudes to nuclear energy through the development of renewables to new hopes associated with hydrogen The authors draw on their own recent empirical research and set this specifically in relation to the French German interface Precisely here where perspectives at times fundamentally differ a productive spotlight can illuminate asymmetries and contradictions and reveal comparable patterns and approaches The publication of research results in this form renders them accessible to an international public

Farms and Territory Philippe Martin, Solène Pissonnier, 2025-08-25 What are the new relationships between territories and farms Farms and Territory addresses this question by exploring a range of landscapes from mountains to cereal plains forged by different actors who exploit and protect resources such as land and wild or domestic biodiversity These territories are also the site of renewed interactions between farms for the use of biomass whether for methanization or herd feeding This book focuses on the various methods and tools used to diagnose design or evaluate agricultural dynamics in territories database matching material and energy flow calculations codesign approaches etc In short this book illustrates the diversity of work carried out at the farm territory interface by research teams to understand changes in the agricultural world and the ecological economic and societal impacts

Coexistence and Confrontation of Agricultural and Food Models Pierre Gasselin, Sylvie Lardon, Claire Cerdan, Salma Loudiyi, Denis Sautier, 2023-03-02 This book analyses situations of coexistence and confrontation of agricultural and food models according to four major dimensions of territorial development the tension between specialisation and diversification innovation adaptation and food transition New agricultural and food models are being deployed in territories around the world in response to criticisms of the old forms of agriculture and food production and in order to meet new challenges These models embody archetypes of the observed diversity actors projects or new norms A number of conceptual studies and case studies from France and other countries allow us to understand the interactions between these models confrontation complementarity co evolution hybridisation etc taking us well beyond the characterisation of their diversity and the evaluation of their relative performances The coexistence and confrontation of these models build up their capacity for radical change The book asks original questions about the analytical framework its methodological challenges and the expected outcomes for the support of agricultural and food development in rural and urban territories It is intended for researchers teachers students and professionals interested in territorial development Pierre Gasselin Sylvie Lardon Claire Cerdan Salma Loudiyi and Denis Sautier are the scientific coordinators of this book They are geographers and economists at CIRAD INRAE and VetAgro Sup where they conduct research on the transformation of agriculture food systems and territories in France and other countries This book is the result of a collective research process involving 36 authors from Argentina Belgium Brazil Burkina Faso France Japan Switzerland and Vietnam Jan Douwe van der Ploeg author of the Foreword is Professor Emeritus of Rural Sociology at Wageningen University Research in the Netherlands and Associate Professor of Agricultural Sociology at the

SMALL-SCALE FAMILY FARMING IN THE NEAR EAST AND NORTH AFRICA REGION Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018-08-09 This report provides an overview of a study conducted in the NENA region in 2015 2016 in partnership with FAO CIRAD CIHEAM IAMM and six national teams each of which prepared a national report In the six countries under review in the NENA region Egypt Lebanon Morocco Mauritania Sudan and Tunisia agriculture is carried out primarily by small scale family farmers the majority of whom run the risk of falling into the poverty trap largely due to the continuous fragmentation of inherited landholdings As such the development of small scale family farming can no longer be based solely on intensifying agriculture as the farmers are not able to produce sufficient marketable surplus due to the limited size of their landholdings An approach based strictly on agricultural activity is also insufficient as small scale family farms have already diversified their livelihoods with off farm activities In fact developing small scale farming cannot be achieved by focusing strictly on the dimension of production

Atlas des politiques agricoles et alimentaires Philippe Ducroquet, Jean-Paul Charvet, 2024-02-14 La pandémie de la COVID 19 puis la guerre russo ukrainienne ont placé la sécurité alimentaire au centre des préoccupations de nombreux pays. Alors que la faim était en recul jusqu'en 2014 avec 600 millions de personnes touchées, elle en concerne actuellement 800 millions soit 10 % de la population mondiale et affecte plus de 20 % de la population africaine. La menace de famines est de retour avec la convergence des conflits armés, l'accentuation de la crise climatique et la gouvernance inadéquate des politiques agricoles. Les meutes de la faim en 2008 avaient pourtant donné le signal pour reorienter les politiques agricoles vers plus de souveraineté sans que cela soit véritablement suivi d'effets. Cet atlas a pour objectif d'analyser sur le temps long les raisons des revers et des succès des politiques agricoles et alimentaires dans 30 pays riches émergents et pauvres sur les 5 continents : Côte d'Ivoire, Éthiopie, Madagascar, Malawi, Mali, Nigéria, Sénégal, Zambie, Algérie, Égypte, Iran, Israël, Maroc, Turquie, Chine, Inde, Indonésie, Thaïlande, Vietnam, Argentine, Brésil, Cuba, Haïti, Australie, Canada, États-Unis, Japon, Russie, Ukraine, Union européenne. Les auteurs ont établi une grille de lecture inédite sur le potentiel agricole de chaque pays, tout ainsi qu'un classement comparatif des facteurs qui conditionnent la réussite d'une politique agricole pour vaincre la faim. Cet atlas apporte des clés de compréhension pour mieux appréhender les enjeux.

Philippe Ducroquet, économiste et ingénieur en agriculture, il est titulaire d'une maîtrise en économie alimentaire, université du Massachusetts et d'un doctorat en géographie, université de Toulouse Le Mirail et est diplômé de la Harvard Business School Advanced Management Program. Il a dirigé plusieurs sociétés agroalimentaires à l'étranger, notamment en Afrique. Après un parcours de banquier, il a été directeur général d'Unigrains. Jean-Paul Charvet, agronome et docteur d'état en géographie, il est professeur honoraire de l'université Paris Nanterre et membre de l'Académie d'agriculture de France. Il a exercé également des fonctions de conseiller et de consultant auprès d'institutions publiques et privées. Il est l'auteur de nombreux ouvrages sur les questions agricoles et alimentaires, dont L'Alimentation dans le monde, mieux nourrir la planète Larousse, ouvrage traduit dans cinq langues.
