Iberian and Translation Studies Esther Gimeno Ugalde, Marta Pacheco Pinto, Ângela Fernandes, 2021 Iberian and Translation Studies Literary Contact Zones brings together a variety of essays by multilingual scholars whose conceptual and empirical research places itself at the intersection of translation and literary Iberian studies thus opening up a new interdisciplinary field of enquiry Iberian translation studies The Colonial Wars in Contemporary Portuguese Fiction Isabel Moutinho, 2008 The Portuguese fiction that awakened public debate on imperialism The colonial wars in Angola Mozambique and Guinea Bissau in the 1960s and 1970s were Portugal's Vietnam The novels discussed in this study written by António Lobo Antunes Lúcia Jorge and Manuel Alegre among others aroused passionate responses from the reading public and initiated a national debate otherwise lacking in the contemporary press with their systematic deconstruction of the rhetoric of patriotism and colonialism of António Salazar's regime The author's approach is of necessity grounded in postcolonial thought as these works represent the awakening of a post imperial conscience in Portuguese literature and society ISABEL MOUTINHO is a Lecturer in Spanish and Portuguese at La Trobe University Australia Dermatological Atlas of Indigenous People Marcos Cesar Florian, Jane Tomimori, Sofia Beatriz Machado de Mendonça, Douglas Antonio Rodrigues, 2017-09-07 Skin diseases are highly prevalent among indigenous people leading to low mortality but greatly impacting their quality of life Such diseases can be observed in indigenous people both those living in isolated communities and those who have since been urbanized to some degree share a common characteristic of presenting different clinical patterns than non indigenous individuals These specificities necessitate a special approach when diagnosing dermatologic diseases in indigenous people However these considerations are rarely discussed in standard dermatology books This Atlas addresses that gap by providing specific materials for professionals involved in the health of indigenous people especially with those who live either alone or in remote areas It offers a comprehensive overview of the most common skin diseases in specific tribes providing a full clinical guide on the dermatologic signs and symptoms in these individuals Additionally the book complements the clinical standpoint with an anthropologic perspective examining the impact of dermatologic diseases in indigenous people and the different meaning of these diseases in their lives Most of the material presented in this Atlas was collected in the Xingu Program a project created in 1965 by the Federal University of São Paulo Brazil and devoted to providing medical care to indigenous people from the Upper Xingu region in the heart of the Amazon rainforest Thus the content is primarily applicable to South American indigenous people However the common characteristics of the isolation and non urbanization of these communities as well as the anthropologic perspective adopted here allow the content to be extrapolated to other indigenous peoples worldwide This Atlas will be a novel and valuable resource for health professionals who work with indigenous peoples especially in geographic areas where dermatologists are not always readily available The Near East, 1919 Hollywood 9/11 Tom Pollard, 2015-12-03 The terrorist attacks of September 11 2001 and the subsequent US led invasions of Afghanistan in 2001 and Iraq in 2003 profoundly affected all aspects of society including cinema Or did they Even now years after those horrific events debate still rages over their impact on films At the time many expected Hollywood to tamp down graphic movie violence while others hoped that filmmakers would finally lay bare volatile socio political issues fuelling terrorist attacks In fact what has emerged is a thicket of darkly pessimistic genres including thrillers combat films sci fi and horror that makes pre 9 11 films appear naive and optimistic Hollywood 9 11 explores this transformation critically examining everything from Harry Potter and the Half Blood Prince to The Hurt Locker and placing the films in the context of both the socio political scene and the history of cinema
