The Oxford Guide to the Bantu Languages Lutz Marten, Ellen Hurst-Harosh, Nancy C. Kula, Jochen Zeller, 2025-08-19 This volume brings together leading scholars from Africa Europe the Americas and beyond to provide a detailed account of the languages of the Bantu family which cover an area from Cameroon and Kenya in the north to South Africa in the south The Bantu family is part of the Niger Congo phylum and one of the world's biggest language groups comprising around 500 languages The family includes major languages with large numbers of speakers such as Zulu Kinyarwanda and Swahili the most widely spoken and taught African language as well as many community languages and several endangered languages Bantu languages feature prominently in the complex and multilingual language ecologies that are characteristic of the linguistic situation in much of Africa and they provide rich evidence for the study of theoretical and comparative linguistics language contact and language change They play an important role in education commerce culture and artistic expression in the media and public discourse in governance and social justice and are central to the future of the continent and the well being of its communities The first part of The Oxford Guide to the Bantu Languages provides background and context with chapters exploring the history of research in the field language and prehistory in Bantu speaking Africa and typology and variation Chapters in the second part offer broad comparative overviews of Bantu phonology morphology syntax semantics and pragmatics socio and applied linguistics before Parts III VII cover more specific topics in Bantu linguistics across a variety of subfields ranging from structural issues such as the augment and melodic tone to historical and sociolinguistic topics such as Bantu languages in the diaspora and language policy and standardization The chapters in the final part offer individual structural overviews of a range of languages from across the Bantu speaking area The book will be an essential resource for students and researchers specializing in the Bantu languages and for typologists and comparative linguists more broadly

Ubuntu Marietjie Oelofsen, Upenyu Majee, Bongani Mgiijima, Jamie Monson, 2024-08-20 Ubuntu Interdisciplinary Conversations Across Continents is a collection of work by 17 scholars emerging from the Ubuntu Dialogues Seminar Exchange Fellowship hosted by Stellenbosch University in South Africa and Michigan State University in the US between 2019 and 2022 This collaborative work brings new voices and new ways of interrogating a concept that holds possibilities for living together differently The contributions problematise the concept in provocative and surprising ways and disrupt narrow and superficial interpretations of Ubuntu. The contributors to this book foreground critical issues which are fundamental towards a deeper understanding of the notion of ubuntu. Dr Sithembele Marawu, University of Fort Hare. This book features next generation rising stars from places such as South Africa, Zimbabwe, Malawi, Burundi, and the US, writing about ubuntu, the indigenous southern African term often used to capture African philosophy, especially its moral dimensions. A fresh kaleidoscopic engagement with ubuntu. Professor Thaddeus Metz, University of Pretoria.

Africa Toyin Falola, Daniel Jean-Jacques, 2015-12-14. These volumes offer a one-stop resource for researching the lives, customs, and cultures of Africa's nations and peoples. Unparalleled in its coverage of contemporary customs in all of Africa, this multivolume set is perfect for both high school and public library shelves. The three-volume encyclopedia will provide readers with an overview of contemporary customs and life in North Africa and sub-Saharan Africa through discussions of key concepts and topics that touch everyday life among the nations' peoples. While this encyclopedia places emphasis on the customs and cultural practices of each state, history, politics, and economics are also addressed. Because entries average 14,000 to 15,000 words each, contributors are able to expound more extensively on each country than in similar encyclopedic works with shorter entries. As a result, readers will gain a more complete understanding of what life is like in Africa's 54 nations and territories and will be better able to draw cross-cultural comparisons based on their reading.

Bibliografi ya Sesotho sa Leboa go fihla ka 1993, 1994. The Contested Idea of South Africa Sabelo J. Ndlovu-Gatsheni, Busani Ngcaweni, 2021-11-29. This book reflects on the complex and contested idea of South Africa, drawing on a wide range of disciplinary perspectives. Ever since the delineation of South Africa as a country, the many diverse groups of people contained within its borders have struggled to translate a mere geographical description into the identity of a people. Today, the new struggles for South Africa and to become South African are inextricably intertwined with complex challenges of transformation, xenophobia, claims of reverse racism, social justice, economic justice, service delivery, and the resurgent decolonization struggles reverberating inside the universities. This book covers the genealogy of the idea of South Africa, exploring how the country has been conceived of by a broad group of actors, including the British, Afrikaners, diverse African nationalist traditions, and new formations such as the Economic Freedom Fighters (EFF), Black First Land First (BLF), and student formations. Rhodes Must Fall, Fees Must Fall. Over the course of the book, a broad range of themes are covered, including identity formation, modernity, race, ethnicity, indigeneity, autochthony, land, gender, intellectual traditions, poetics of South Africanness, language, popular culture, truth and reconciliation, and national development planning. Concluding with important reflections on how a colonial imaginary can be changed into a free and inclusive postcolonial nation-state, this book will be an important read for Africanist researchers from across the humanities and social sciences.

Using Online Dictionaries Carolin Müller-Spitzer, 2014-02-27. Until now, there has been very little research into the use of online dictionaries. In contrast, the market for online dictionaries is increasing both for academic lexicography and for commercial lexicography with sales figures for printed reference works in continual decline This has led to a demand for reliable empirical information on how online dictionaries are actually being used and how they could be made more user friendly The volume Using Online Dictionaries makes a substantial contribution to closing this research gap It is divided into four parts The first part contains articles on fundamental issues a research review of the empirical studies on digital dictionaries which have already been carried out and a brief methodological guideline for lexicographical researchers who are interested in conducting their own empirical research The second part contains the results of two studies that focus on general questions about the use of online dictionaries It presents empirical data on contexts of dictionary use on expectations and demands regarding online dictionaries Furthermore innovative features such as the use of multimedia elements or the option of a user adaptive interface and questions of design were assessed empirically The third part of this volume comprises more specific studies of online dictionaries an eye tracking study evaluating the new web design of the dictionary portal OWID and a log file study which tries to get to the bottom of the following question Do dictionary users look up frequent words or put differently is there a connection between how often a word is looked up and how often it appears in a corpus In the last chapter of this thematic section the question of how users judge the combination of a written paraphrase and an additional illustration in illustrated online dictionaries is addressed The last part focuses on the use of monolingual dictionaries in particular the German online dictionary eleXiko In this context two online questionnaire based studies were carried out The empirical studies were conducted in the form of online surveys combining questionnaires and experimental elements and in the form of laboratory studies using eye tracking technology as well as using observational methods such as log file analyses Regarding the comprehensive research framework this volume can be relevant to lexicographers metalexicographers and linguists who are interested in the use of online dictionaries and in the development and exploration of lexicographical data for the internet as well as linguists interested in empirical methods It addresses a broad expert audience by presenting an academic subject which is currently the focus of much discussion

User-Centric Studies in Game Translation and Accessibility Mikołaj Deckert, Krzysztof W. Hejduk, 2024-11-05 This innovative collection makes the case for a push within the discipline to adopt user centric perspectives on translated video games and their corresponding accessibility features The volume demonstrates how audiovisual translation AVT and media accessibility MA involve decisions that can re shape the gaming experience of players and other audiences Contributions in the book outline this in two ways First they collectively provide an account of the prospects and challenges that come with user centric scholarly inquiry in game translation and accessibility Second complementarily they report on original studies and new exciting findings while adopting the perspective of global users Taken together the collection serves as a call to action to systematically advance research eliciting variable types of input from users who take advantage of translation and accessibility services Such research will facilitate a clearer understanding of how the particular decisions of translators and other relevant agents shape game reception This book will be of interest to scholars in both translation studies and video game research as well as those interested in media accessibility and media studies more broadly Child Language Barbara C. Lust, 2006-09-21 The remarkable way in which young children acquire language has long fascinated linguists and developmental psychologists alike Language is a skill that we have essentially mastered by the age of three and with incredible ease and speed despite the complexity of the task This accessible textbook introduces the field of child language acquisition exploring language development from birth Setting out the key theoretical debates it considers questions such as what characteristics of the human mind make it possible to acquire language how far acquisition is biologically programmed and how far it is influenced by our environment what makes second language learning in adulthood different from first language acquisition and whether the specific stages in language development are universal across languages Clear and comprehensive it is set to become a key text for all courses in child language acquisition within linguistics developmental psychology and cognitive science

The Art of Public Space Kim Gurney, 2016-01-05 A journey through Johannesburg via three art projects raises intriguing notions about the constitutive relationship between the city imagination and the public sphere through walking gaming and performance art Amid prevailing economic validations the trilogy posits art within an urban commons in which imagination is all important Translation Studies beyond the Postcolony Ilse Feinauer, Kobus Marais, 2017-01-06 This edited volume explores the role of postcolonial translation studies in addressing issues of the postcolony It investigates the retention of the notion of postcolonial translation studies and whether one could reconsider or adapt the assumptions and methodologies of postcolonial translation studies to a new understanding of the postcolony to question the impact of postcolonial translation studies in Africa to address pertinent issues The book also places the postcolony in historical perspective and takes a critical look at the failures of postcolonial approaches to translation studies The book brings together 12 chapters which are divided into three sections namely Africa the Global South and the Global North As such the volume is able to consider the postcolony and even conceptualisations beyond the postcolony in a variety of settings worldwide The Oxford Handbook of Ellipsis Jeroen van Craenenbroeck, Tanja Temmerman, 2018-12-13 This Handbook is the first volume to provide a comprehensive in depth and balanced discussion of ellipsis phenomena whereby the meaning of an utterance is richer than would be expected based solely on its linguistic form Natural language abounds in these apparently incomplete expressions such as I laughed but Ed didn't in which the final portion of the sentence the verb laugh remains unpronounced but is still understood The range of phenomena involved raise general and fundamental questions about the workings of grammar but also constitute a treasure trove of fine grained points of inter and intralinguistic variation The volume is divided into four parts In the first authors examine the role that ellipsis plays and how it is analysed in different theoretical frameworks and linguistic subdisciplines such as HPSG construction grammar inquisitive semantics and computational linguistics Chapters in the second part highlight the usefulness of ellipsis as a diagnostic tool for other linguistic phenomena including movement and islands and codeswitching while part III focuses instead on the types of elliptical constructions found in natural language such as sluicing gapping and null complement anaphora Finally the last part of the book contains case studies that investigate elliptical phenomena in a wide variety of languages including Dutch Japanese Persian and Finnish Sign Language

Working with indigenous knowledge Fhumulani M. Mulaudzi, Rachel T. Lebeso, 2022 The aim of the book is to assist both local and international scholars in articulating the scholarly discourse on indigenous health attitudes practices and experiences The indigenous lens that was used to generate and disseminate indigenous knowledge in this book will strengthen indigenous scholarship thus making it accessible to a wider audience In addition the information shared in this book will add value for scholars and assist them with the indigenous knowledge needed to address sustainable development goals This book is timeous and topical as the discourse on the decolonisation of the curriculum is widely debated in the higher education space The discourse on the scholarship of indigenous knowledge as the tacit local knowledge that stems from cultural practices within communities has not been well articulated in the current health science education milieu Indigenous knowledge has remained overlooked and undermined for a very long time and the information remains untapped in local communities The scholars who conducted the research on which this book is based unearthed a wealth of knowledge which was tacit in nature and translated it into implicit knowledge that can be documented and shared with other scholars globally This knowledge will assist health care scholars in benefiting from knowledge practices and cultural beliefs that will assist them in health care planning teaching evidence based practice and further research
