Turkey Ceren Lord,2018-11-08 Since the elections of 2002 Erdogan s AKP has dominated the political scene in Turkey This period has often been understood as a break from a secular pattern of state building But in this book Ceren Lord shows how Islamist mobilisation in Turkey has been facilitated from within the state by institutions established during early nation building Lord thus challenges the traditional account of Islamist AKP s rise that sees it either as a grassroots reaction to the authoritarian secularism of the state or as a function of the state s utilisation of religion Tracing struggles within the state Lord also shows how the state s principal religious authority the Presidency of Religious Affairs Diyanet competed with other state institutions to pursue Islamisation Through privileging Sunni Muslim access to state resources to the exclusion of others the Diyanet has been a key actor ensuring persistence and increasing salience of religious markers in political and economic competition creating an amenable environment for Islamist mobilisation The SAGE Encyclopedia of World

The New Political Economy of Disability Georgia van Toorn, 2021-02-22 This book addresses the ways in which individualised market based models of disability support provision have been mobilised in and across different countries through cross national investigation of individualised funding IF as an object of neoliberal policy mobility Combining rich theoretical and interdisciplinary perspectives with extensive empirical research the book provides a timely examination of the policy processes and mechanisms driving the spread of IF amongst countries at the forefront of disability policy reform It is argued that IF s mobility is not attributable to neoliberalism alone but to the complex intersections between neoliberal and emancipatory agendas and to the transnational networks that have blended the two agendas in new ways in different institutional contexts The book shows how disability rights struggles have synchronised with neoliberal agendas which explains IF s propensity to move and mutate between different jurisdictions Featuring first hand accounts of the activists and advocates engaged in these struggles the book illuminates the consequences and risks of the dangerous liaisons and political trade offs that seemed necessary to get individualised funding on the policy agenda for disabled people It will be of interest to all scholars and students working in disability studies social policy sociology and political science more generally
