

MLA FORMAT

BASIC QUOTE FORMAT

Quotations: When you directly quote from others in your essay, you will format them differently based on their length. Below are some of the basic guidelines for formatting quotes:

Short Quotations: If your quotation is fewer than four typed lines you should enclose the quotation in quotation marks. With regards to punctuation: periods, commas, and semi-colons should go after the parenthetical citation. Question marks and exclamation points should appear within the quotation marks if they are part of the quoted passage, but after the citation if they are part of your text.

Example:

Some believe that "they are devoid of the inner struggle that makes for great tragedy" (Smith 320).

Long Quotations: If your quotation is more than four lines the quote is 'blocked'. This means you start the quotation on a new line with the entire quote indented one inch from the left margin. Double spacing is still used, quotation marks are omitted, and punctuation appears within the quotation.

Example:

He describes the higher brain function as follows:

A brain-dead person is alleged to be dead because his neocortex, the seat of consciousness, has been destroyed. He has thus lost the ability to think and feel. (Greenberg 335)
