Homeostasis: Process by which organisms keep internal conditions relatively stable regardless of changes in the external environment. It is important because the processes that keep the cell alive only takes place under certain internal conditions.

The Cell (plasma) Membrane determines what goes in and out of a cell to help maintain homeostasis.

Cells transport materials across the cell membrane in many different ways. The cell membrane is selectively permeable.

Some molecules must be allowed in through a special type of transport protein. Other smaller molecules like oxygen and carbon dioxide can squeeze through the lipid bilayer as needed. Water must go through a special pore called an Aquaporin since fat (lipid) and water don't mix.
