Quot Moo Quot Is Hard To Do:

Old Testament Quotations in the Fourth Gospel M. J. J. Menken, 1996 From the very beginning of Christianity Jesus followers have tried to legitimize their views of him with the help of the Scriptures This means that if we wish to understand the beginning of the Christian church and of Christian theology we have to examine the early Christian use of the Old Testament A conspicuous way of using the Scriptures consists in directly quoting from them Eleven OT quotations in the Fourth Gospel are the topic of this study These eleven quotations in fact the majority of John's OT quotations differ from the known versions of the OT but are not free paraphrases of the OT text in some cases it is not immediately clear from which passage precisely the evangelist quotes This state of affairs raises the questions which OT passages in which versions John used and how and why the quotations were modified In this study the questions of source and of redaction are dealt with in their interrelationship Can we adequately explain the form of a quotation by taking into account Johannine redaction of an OT passage in a textual form which we know which we can reasonably argue Results of research in the field of early Jewish and early Christian exegetical techniques and devices are of course taken into account Each of the eleven quotations is scrutinized on the points of source and redaction It appears that John mostly used the LXX but that where that translation did not suit his purposes he either translated the Hebrew himself or used an other translation He modified the quotations in agreement with extant exegetical rules and for christological reasons This study gives new insight into an aspect of the early Christian use of Scripture

A Dramatic Pentecostal/Charismatic Anti-Theodicy Stephen Torr,2013-11-08 The response of Pentecostal and Charismatic churches to those suffering in their midst has generally been to seek the intervention of the Holy Spirit to bring about healing and transformation or perhaps education But what happens when the suffering continues it appears to be innocent and meaningless and God seems to be absent This study drawing on Kevin Vanhoozer s dramatic approach to theology argues that the way God calls us to perform as we seek to communicate with him amidst such situations is to lament and to do so with the aid of the Holy Spirit Rather than offering such an approach purely in opposition to the more triumphalistic responses common in Pentecostal Charismatic theology and practice this book seeks to show how a performance of lament is conducive to such theology and practice while acting as a much needed corrective to certain aspects of it What is provided here is therefore relevant reading for both scholars and pastors alike particularly of Pentecostal Charismatic church tradition who grapple with the realities of suffering and the questions such realities produce
