Rethinking Human Nature Malcolm Jeeves, 2011-02-23 How do the many exciting recent scientific discoveries in neuroscience psychology evolutionary biology genetics and paleoanthropology challenge and complicate but also enrich and illuminate the traditional Christian portrait of human nature In Rethinking Human Nature an international team of scientists historians philosophers and theologians presents both the wisdom of the past and the cutting edge of present and developing scientific research to explore answers to this vital question Their discussions examining our brains our genes our ancestors our societies and more will help us develop a more nuanced and complete understanding of what it really means to be human Contributors Evandro Agazzi R J Berry Alison S Brooks Franco Chiereghin Felipe Fernandez Graeme Finlay Joel Green Malcolm Jeeves Jrgen Mittelstrass David G Myers Janet Martin Soskice Fernando Vidal

Defending Sin Hans Madueme, 2024-05-28 The conflict between the natural sciences and Christian theology has been going on for centuries Recent advances in the fields of evolutionary biology behavioral genetics and neuroscience have intensified this conflict particularly in relation to origins the fall and sin These debates are crucial to our understanding of human sinfulness and necessarily involve the doctrine of salvation Theistic evolutionists have labored hard to resolve these tensions between science and faith but Hans Madueme argues that the majority of their proposals do injustice both to biblical teaching and to long standing doctrines held by the mainstream Christian tradition In this major contribution to the field of science and religion Madueme demonstrates that the classical notion of sin reflected in Scripture the creeds and tradition offers the most compelling and theologically coherent account of the human condition He answers pressing challenges from the physical sciences on both methodological and substantive levels Scholars pastors students and interested lay readers will profit from interacting with the arguments presented here

Whole-Earth Ethics for Holy Ground Stephen L. Hastings, 2016-10-19 Over the last fifty years Western Christianity has been criticized as a cause and enabler of Earth's ecological crisis It has been said that Christianity promotes a spiritual material dualism where the material side of life has little sacred value Also noted in the critique is the hesitancy of many Christians to embrace modern scientific understandings of creation especially evolution Some Christian writers have responded by accepting modern cosmology and evolution and advocating for a sacramental creation spirituality oftentimes supported by fresh readings of earlier Christian writings In Whole Earth Ethics for Holy Ground Dr Stephen Hastings begins by offering a genre defining overview of late 20th century and early 21st century writings that he calls sacramental creation spirituality These writings are characterized by their acceptance of the scientific creation story of cosmogenesis and evolution and their recovery of authentic Christian nature mysticism Hastings then looks at Teilhard de Chardin 1881 1955 CE Maximus the Confessor c 580 662 CE and Nicholas of Cusa 1401 1464 CE Together the teachings of Maximus and Nicholas support Teilhard's call for a theology of a Creator God robust enough to encompass the most expansive and complicated propositions about creation made by science while remaining as close as the real presence of Christ in the Eucharist The integrated teachings of these three figures suggest the consecration of creation as its condition of being meaning that God is present in all things This consecration or presence inspires sacramental experiences that are revelations of God in and through creation These complement the sacramental experience of Christ in the Eucharist Together these sacramental encounters converge to support the conclusion that just as one receives and responds to Christ present in the elements of the communion table so one ought to receive and respond to oneself one's neighbors and all creation as the universal consecrated and sacramental neighborhood This is a whole Earth sacramental ethic that is what we need today centered on all life and ecosystems

God, Humanity and the Cosmos Christopher Southgate, 2005-10-29 Contributors include Christopher Southgate John Hedley Brooke Celia Deane Drummond Paul D Murray Michael Robert Negus Lawrence Osborn Michael Poole Jacqui Stewart Fraser Watts David Wilkinson This fully revised and updated edition of God, Humanity and the Cosmos includes new chapters by John Hedley Brooke Paul D Murray and David Wilkinson In addition to a systematic exploration of contemporary perspectives in physics evolutionary biology and psychology as they relate to theological descriptions of the universe humanity and consciousness the book now provides a thorough survey of the theological philosophical and historical issues underpinning the science religion debate Contributors also examine such issues as theological responses to the ecological crisis and to biotechnology how science is treated and valued in education and the relation of science to Islamic thought Dr Christopher Southgate is Lecturer in Theology at the University of Exeter

The Cosmic Breath Amos Yong, 2012-05-10 The interjection of pneumatology in both theologies of interreligious dialogue and in the theology and science conversation comes together in this volume The resulting Christianity Buddhism science dialogue opens up to new pneumatological perspectives on philosophical cosmology and anthropology in interdisciplinary and global context

Ecology of Vocation Kiara A. Jorgenson, 2020-05-15 Critically surveying various approaches to Christian ecological ethics alongside the vexing moral ambiguities of the Anthropocene Ecology of Vocation offers an integrative approach to responsible living vis vis one of Protestantism's key theological resources the doctrine of vocation Drawing on H Richard Niebuhr's germinal ethical framework with a decidedly ecofeminist perspective Kiara A Jorgenson demonstrates how vocation's emphasis on right relationship practically speaks to the embodied realities of planetary interrelatedness By excavating the ecological promise of the early Reformers democratized renderings of calling and linking their concerns to the contemporary context she argues that vocation cannot be reduced to the particular aim of monetized work nor to an elitist escape from it Rather vocation must be recast as the dynamic and vibrant space among the myriad roles any of us inhabits at any given time in a particular place When understood in this light vocation signals much more than a job a passion or a quest for self discovery An alternative understanding of vocation's very ecology can extend Christian conceptions of the neighbor beyond the human and lead the church to more faithfully pursue lives characterized by humility restraint wisdom justice and love

Darwinism and Natural Theology Andrew Robinson, 2012-03-15 Can Christianity be reconciled with Darwin's theory of evolution by natural selection What relevance do the biological sciences have to religious thought Does Christian theology have anything to offer when it comes to formulating scientific hypotheses These questions are among those explored in this collection of essays arising from a meeting of the UK Science and Religion Forum held in Cambridge to mark the bicentenary of Darwin's birth and the 150th anniversary of the publication of The Origin of Species. The volume brings together contributions from a distinguished group of scholars at the forefront of the field of science and religion including Denis Alexander, R. J. Berry, John Hedley Brooke, Sarah Coakley, Celia Deane Drummond, David Fergusson, David Knight, Christopher Southgate, Neil Spurway and Kenneth Wilson. The essays are organized around the theme of natural theology, the attempt to draw theological conclusions from reflection on the natural world. The essays cover historical, philosophical and theological perspectives and explore some contemporary approaches to natural theology in the context of Darwinism.

True Scientists, True Faith R. J. Berry, 2014. True Scientists True Faith. Leading scientists reveal the harmony between their science and their faith. Some atheistic campaigners continue to stress that science and faith are incompatible. This is simply untrue as the distinguished contributors to this volume demonstrate. Scientists from a variety of different disciplines have provided their own accounts of how their science and their personal faith intersect. They come from a range of Christian backgrounds but all are orthodox believers. Contributors include Joan Centrella, NASA; Francis Collins, Human Genome Project; Bob White, Professor of Geophysics, University of Cambridge; Alister McGrath, Professor of Theology, King's College London; and molecular biologist Wilson Poon, Professor of Physics, University of Edinburgh. This new edition also includes five contributions from distinguished younger scientists.

The Radical Disciple John Stott, 2012-05-15. In the last book by the leading evangelical churchman of the 20th century, John Stott opens up what it means at root to be a follower of Jesus. He explores eight aspects of Christian discipleship which are too often neglected and yet deserve to be taken seriously: non-conformity, Christ-likeness, maturity, creation care, simplicity, balance, dependence and death. The message is simple, classic and personal. Jesus is Lord. He calls. We follow.

Christianity and Earthkeeping Ernst Marais Conradie, 2011-04-01. Why should Christians engage in earthkeeping as Christians and from within Christian communities? What is the underlying theological rationale for that? In this book, some 19 reasons why Christians may be encouraged to engage in earthkeeping are identified, juxtaposed and assessed in order to call for clarity, to invite discussion and to elicit creative tensions. No single position is advocated; it would be helpful if Christians could engage in earthkeeping on the basis of any of these motivations.
