of cannabis and the ways in which the plant's chemical composition can be controlled. As well as offering a raft of scientific information, there is extensive coverage of cannabinoid-based medicines. Helping readers to identify and evaluate their benefits, chapters explore pharmacological actions and the effects that seem to underlie approved therapeutic uses; how they are currently used to treat certain disorders; and the ever-growing number of wide-ranging potential clinical applications. There is also coverage of both the legal and illegal sources of cannabis, including coffee shops and cannabis dispensaries. The complex issue of recreational cannabis is also tackled. The sought-after and adverse psychological and non-psychological effects are described, and discussions are included on how some adverse effects can be lessened by at least one constituent of cannabis, and that it might be possible to reduce the harm that cannabis does to some by changing current regulatory policies. The Handbook of Cannabis is a one-stop reference, essential reading for all clinicians, pharmacologists, psychologists, and psychiatrists interested in this drug, as well as those working in the field of public health.

Handbook on Immunosenescence Tamas Fulop, Claudio Franceschi, Katsuiki Hirokawa, Graham Pawelec, 2009-02-27 Immunosenescence is an imprecise term used to describe deleterious age-associated changes to immune parameters observed in all mammals studied so far. It represents a rapidly progressing science in the aging field with a vertiginous volume of new data, knowledge, and concepts concerning these changes. We are poised to be in a position to translate these accumulated data into the clinical setting via better understanding of the contribution of immunosenescence to age-associated pathologies and their prevention by appropriate interventions. This authoritative handbook seeks to encompass the current state of our knowledge on the multitude of those changes to immunity related to aging, with contributions from experts in the research and clinical areas. This book therefore considers methods and models for studying immunosenescence: cellular immunosenescence of T cells, B cells, neutrophils, antigen-presenting cells, NK, NKT, and stem cells; genetics; mechanisms including receptors and signal transduction; mitochondria; proteasome; cytokines; neuroendocrine; immune networks; inflammation; thymus; clinical relevance in disease states including infections, autoimmunity, cancer, metabolic syndrome, neurodegenerative diseases, frailty, and osteoporosis; modulation by nutrition, lipids, vaccination; and the question of interventions to influence immunosenescence. It is realistically proposed based on our current state of knowledge.
